PREFACE.

The sixth volume of the Catalogue of Persian and Arabic manuscripts in the Bankipur Library deals with historical works, arranged under the headings shown in the table of contents. When in 1914 Dr. E. D. Ross left India, he asked me to take over the supervision of the work that he had first set on foot eleven years earlier. The first seventy-three pages of the volume were seen and corrected by him in print; for the remainder I am responsible.

Of the manuscripts here described the following deserve particular attention:—

- No. 449. Bal'ami's translation of Tabari's history, dated A.H. 740.
- No. 455. Aḥmad bin Muḥammad Faṣîḥ-ul-Khawâfi's Mujmal-i-Faṣîḥî.
- No. 463. Khwând Amîr's Khulâşat-ul-Akhbâr, copied 25 yeara after the author's death.
- No. 468. Mas'ûdî bin 'Uşmân Kûhistânî's Târîkh-i-Abu'l-Khayr Khânî, dated а.н. 999.
- No. 484. Translation of Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî's history of Muḥammad, dated A.H. 841.
- No. 504. Copy of Mukhtâr's history written by the calligrapher Muishid-ul-Kâtib of Shîrâz, dated а.н. 947.

It should be mentioned here that the Catalogue owes much to the liberality of the Government of Bihar and Orissa, who made it possible for the compiler to visit distant libraries and inspect other collections. Indeed without that privilege it is hard to see how the viii PREFACE.

work could have progressed at all; for there is not yet in Muhammadan India the fraternity of scholarship, nor yet the requisite learning, which makes possible that organisation and exchange of knowledge which in Europe we have come to expect and demand. That this confidence and generosity were not misplaced, Maulavî 'Abd-ul-Muqtadir's latest volume will abundantly prove.

A. F. SCHOLFIELD.

TÂRÎKH-I-TABARÎ.

Vol. I.

An exceedingly valuable and old copy, dated A.H. 740 = A.D. 1339, of the Persian translation of Abû Ja'far Muḥammad bin Jarîr bin Yazîd-uṭ-Ṭabarî's well-known general history, made by Abû 'Alî Muḥammad bin Muḥammad bin 'Abd Ullah ul-Bal'amî, ابر علي معمد بن عبد الله البلعمي, in A.H. 352 = A.D. 963.

Hâj. Khal., vol. ii., p. 136, says that Tabarî (who was born at Âmul, in Tabaristân, in A.H. 224 = A.D. 838, and died in Bagdâd, A.H. 310 = A.D. 921) brought down the annals to A.H. 309 = A.D. 921, and entitled it "K. Akhbâr-ur-Rusul wal-Mulâk"), and that the history of Tabarî which is now extant is an abridgment by Tabarî himself from his original work, which, according to Ibn-i-Subki, as stated by Hâj Khal., ib., consisted of thirty thousand folios. According to Morley, p. 17, Tabarî composed the work about A.H. 300 = A.D. 912, while Hâj. Khal., ib., gives us a more precise date of the composition, viz., A.H. 309 = A.D. 921.

The translator, Abû 'Alî Muḥammad bin Muḥammad ul-Bal'amî, belonged to a noble and learned family of Bal'am, a town in Asia Minor. His father, Abul Fadl Muḥammad bin 'Abd Ullah ut-Tamîmî ul-Bal'amî, lead libert war bal'amî, was the warîr of Amîr Ismâ'îl, the well-known founder of the Samanide dynasty, who died in A.H. 329 = A.D. 940. The translator, like his father, held the influential office of warîr under the Samanide prince Amîr Abû Şâlih Mansûr bin Nûh bin Naṣr bin Aḥmad us-Sâmânî, who reigned from A.H. 350-366 = A.D. 961-976. In A.H. 352 = AD. 963 this prince, through his agent Abûl Ḥasan Fâ'iq, ordered his wazîr, the aforesaid Bal'amî, to translate the Arabic chronicle of Tabarî into Persian.

The translator has introduced new headings, and has to a great extent altered the arrangements of the original. He has divided the work into chapters, of greater or less length, and has, for the most part, observed the chronological order, thus recording the contemporary events in a systematic order. The Isnads, or enumerations of vouchers, and almost all the Arabic verses have been omitted, and, although much new matter has been added, he has greatly abridged the original.

According to Ḥâj. Khal., ib., the history was continued by Abû Muḥammad 'Abd Ullah bin Muḥammad ul-Fargânî, الصّلة, and also by Abul Ḥasan Muḥammad bin 'Abd-ul-Malık bin Ibrâhîm bin Aḥmad ul-Hamadânî, الص محمد بي عبد الملك بي ابراهيم بي ابراهيم, who died in A.H. 521 = A.D. 1127.

Bal'amî's version of Tabarî's history may be considered as one of the oldest works in the modern Persian language.

The Tarîkh-i-Tabarî has lately been edited in four volumes in the Nawal Kishor Press, Lucknow. An Osmanli Turkish translation of Bal'amî's Persian version was printed in Constantinople in A.H. 1260, and is described by Dr. G. Rosen in the Z. D. M. G., vol. ii., pp. 159-187; and an Oriental Turkish translation, written in A.H. 928 = A.D. 1521, is mentioned by Kosegarten in his Taberistanensis Annales, p. 10. A French translation by M. Hermann Zotenberg was published in four volumes, with a reprint, in the first volume, pp. 1-355, of M. Dubeux's translation (ed. 1836).

Accounts of Bal'amî's version will be found in the "avertisements" of Zotenberg and Dubeux. See also Ḥāj. Khal., ib.; Kosegarten's Tabaristanensis Annales, 1831; Præfatio, pp. 10, 11; St. Petersburg Catalogue, pp. 260-264; Rieu, i., p. 68; W. Morley, pp. 17-21; G. Flugel, vol. ii., p. 64; Sprenger, Journal of the Asiatic Society, Bengal, vol. xvii., part ii., pp. 437-471; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 2-13; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 2-13, etc.

The two volumes of the work bring the history down to the reign of Khalifah al-Mu'taşim Billâh (A.H. 218-227 = A.D. 833-842), after which follows an abridged account of his successors down to al-Mustazhir Billâh (A.H. 487-512 = A.D. 1094-1118). The present volume begins with the creation of the world and comprises the whole historia-anti-islamica.

The Arabic prefaces noticed in Rieu, i., p. 68, are not found in this copy. It opens thus, with a short Persian preface —

سباس و امرین مو خذابرا کامکار و کامران و آفربننده زمین و آسمان . . . نه انباز و نه دستور نه یار و نه زن و فرزند همیشه بوذ و همینه باشد
$$\frac{1}{1}$$

The names of the author, the translator, and the Samanide prince occur in the preface, which is followed by غاز سخن, or beginning of the history —

This volume ends with the accession of Yazdajird bin Shahr-i-Yâr (the Isdigeretes III. of the Greeks), the last king of the Sasanian dynasty, which ruled Persia for four hundred and fifteen years, and the translator says here, that as the account of Yazdajird and his wars is long, he will deal with it under the caliphate of 'Umar.—

TABAQÂT-I-NÂSIRÎ.

A general history from the earliest times to A H. 658 = A D. 1259, by Abû 'Umar 'Uṣmân bin Muḥammad ul-Mınhâj bin Sirâj ul-Jūzajâni. In the preface of the present copy the name of the author occurs thus—

Beginning .-

From some passages in which the author, in the course of his narration, refers to himself and his family, we can gather the following facts.—

His ancestor in the third degree, Imâm 'Abd-ul-Khâliq, came from Jûzajân (between Merv and Balkh) to Gaznî during the reign of Ibiahim, and married one of the forty daughters of this king. Of this union a son was born, who was named Ibrâhîm. His son Maulânâ Minhâj-ud-Dîn Usmân was the grandfather of the present author. Minhaj-ud-Dîn 'Usmân was an emment scholar, and was commonly called Imâm Auhad of Bukhârâ. After his return from Mecca, Minhâjud-Dîn 'Uşmân settled in Sîstân in the reign of Shams-ud-Dîn Muhammad, king of Nîmı ûz. The author's father, Maulânâ Sirâj-ud-Dîn Minhâj, who is spoken of by the author as the wonder of the age and the most eloquent man of Persia, was appointed Qadî of the army of Hindûstân by Sultân Mu'izz-ud-Dîn Muhammad bin Sâm in A.H. 582 = A.D. 1186. Subsequently Sirâj took up his residence in Fîrûzkûh, from which place Sultan Baha ud-Dîn Sâm called him to Bâmiyan and made him Qâdî and Khatîb of his kingdom. Although the author does not give us the date of his birth, yet when he says that he was eighteen years of age when he witnessed the slaying of Malik Rukn-ud-Dîn Mahmûd in Fîrûzkûh in A.H. 607 = A.D. 1210, we can conclude that he was born in A.H. 589 = A.D. 1193. He was brought up in the Haram of the princess Mah-i-Mulk, who was a foster-sister of his mother and a daughter of Sultan Giyas-ud-Dîn Muhammad bin Sam. From Gûr he was twice sent to Nîmrûz as an envoy to Sultân Tâj-ud-Dîn Niyâtigîn in A.H. 622 = A.D. 1225 and A.H. 623 = A.D. 1226 respectively. He came to India in A.H. 624 = A.D. 1227, during the reign of Sultan Nasir-ud-Dîn Qabâchah, and in the same year was placed in charge of the Madrasah-i-Fîrûzî at Uchh. In the year following, when Qabâchah was overthrown by Sultan Shams-ud-Dîn Îltamish, the author followed the conqueror to Dihli, where he arrived in Ramadan, A.H. 625 = August, 1228. In A.H. 629 = A.D. 1231 he followed Îltamish to the siege of Gwalior, where he was first appointed a court preacher, and subsequently was entrusted with the highest offices of the law, which, however, he gave up on the approach of Queen Radiyah's army in A.H. 635 = A.D. 1237. After the death of this accomplished but ill-starred queen, Minhaj returned to Dihli and attached himself to the service of her successor Bahrâm Shâh as a court preacher, and in A.H. 639 = A.D. 1242 was made Qâdî of the whole territories under Bahrâm Shâh. Towards the end of the same year, when Bahrâm Shâh was deposed and slain, the author resigned his services. In A.H. 640 = A.D. 1243 he came to Lakhnautî, and after staying there for two years returned to Dihlî where he arrived early in the following year, and shortly after was appointed master of the Nasiriyah College and was also made Qadi of Gwalior. Minhâj received many high honours from Sultân Nâșir-ud-Dîn Mahmûd (A.H. 644-664 = AD. 1246-1265) and from the distinguished and accomplished Giyas-ud-Din Balban, who entrusted the author with several high and responsible offices and honoured him with the title of Ṣadr-ı-Jahâr. Shaykh 'Abd-ul-Haqq Dıhlawî, in hıs Akhbâr-ul-Akhyâr, p. 90, speaks of Minhaj as a great scholar and an ardent mystic, and says that the celebrated saint Shaykh Nizâm-ud-Dîn Auliyâ attended the author's lecture every Monday.

The author dedicated the present work to his patron Sultan Nasirud-Dîn Mahmûd, the youngest son of Sultan Îltamish. This Nasirud-Dîn Mahmûd must not be confounded with the eldest son of Îltamish, who was also called Nasirud-Dîn Mahmûd and died in A.H. 626 = A.D. 1228. The author commenced the composition in A.H. 657 = A.D. 1259 and completed it in the month of Shawwâl, A.H. 608 = A.D. 1260.

The work is divided into the following twenty-three sections called Tabaqât:—

I.

Prophets and Patriarchs, with a history of Muḥammad to the day of his death, fol. 3<sup>b</sup>. Fol. 3<sup>a</sup>, containing the first portion of the account of Âdam, is left blank.

XXIII.

Disaster to Islâm and invasion of the infidels, fol. 306°.

Some folios towards the end of the MS are missing, and on comparing with the Calcutta edition of the text it is found that the contents, covering about twenty pages (Cal. edn., pp. 433-453), are wanting here. The copy breaks off with the words.—

On the margins of foll.  $3^{5}-4^{5}$  and  $14^{n}-60^{n}$  some confused accounts of the battle of Karbalâ are given.

The Tabaqats xi., xvii.-xxii., relating to the History of India, have been edited by Capt. W. Nassu Lees, in the Bibliotheca Indica, Calcutta, 1864. An English translation of the entire work except the first six Tabaqâts, by Major II. G. Raverty, has been printed for the same series, London, 1873–1876.

The MS. is written in minute Naskh. Not dated, apparently 16th century.

TÂRÎKH-I-BANÂKITÎ.

A general history of the world from the earliest times to the accession of Sultan Abû Sa'id, a. H. 717 = a.d. 1317, abridged, as the author himself says, from the Jami'-ut-Tawarikh of Rashid-ud-Din Fadl Ullah, who was born at Hamadan, a.h. 645 = a.d. 1247, composed his work only seven years before the present work in a.h. 710 = a.d. 1310, and was executed in a.h. 718 = a.d. 1318.

General Briggs, in his translation of Finishtah's preface, and some other European writers, e.g. Mr. James Fraser, in his Catalogue of Oriental MSS., call the work "Târîkh-i-Binâ-i-Gîtî," or Binâ-Gîtî, which would lead one to think that they considered the title to bear the meaning of "History of the foundation of the world," while as a fact the correct title, Târîkh-i-Banâkitî, means the history of Banâkitî, by which name the author is better known.

The full title of the work, as given in the preface, is روضة اولي الكابر و الانسات. The author, Abû Sulaymân Da'ûd bin Abi'l Faḍl Muḥammad ul-Banâkitî, surnamed Fakhr Banâkitî, surnamed Fuhh الفضل محمد البناكتي معروف, with several variations in name and genealogy, for which see Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, p 25, was a poet as well as an historian, and received from Sulţân Gazân Khân (A.H. 694-703 = A.D. 1295-1304) the title of Malik-ush-Shu'arâ in A.H 710 = A.D 1310.

Verses in praise of the above-named Sulţân, as well as his two successors Ûljâitû (A.u. 703-716 = A.D. 1304-1316) and Âbû Sa'îd (A.H. 716-736 = A.D. 1316-1335), are not uncommon in the present work. He is commonly called Fakhr-ud-Dîn Banâkitî, فضر الدين بناكتي (in the Nigâristan, fol. 5°, noticed below, he is called ومخر الدين داؤد مناكتي), on account of his having been born in Banâkit or Fanâkit, a town in Mâwarâ-un-Nahr, also called Shâsh, and in modern times Tâshkand. His elder brother, Sayyid Nizâm-ud-Dîn 'Alî, was a very pious Darwîsh and died in Tabrîz, A.H. 699 = A.D. 1299. The author completed the present work on the 25th of Shawwâl, A.H. 717 = A.D. 1317, December 31, and dedicated it to Sulţân Abû Sa'îd, the ninth Mongol King of Persia.

Beginning:-

TÂRÎKH-I-GUZÎDAH.

A general history from the earliest times to A.H. 730 = A.D. 1329 by Hamd Ullah bin Abî Bakr bin Ahmad bin Naşr Mustaufî of Qazwîn,

Beginning .-

The work is held in high estimation as one of the most reliable works on general histories. Hammer-Purgstall speaks of it very highly in his works, while Hâj. Khal., vol. v., p. 177, remarks thus.—

The authors of the Universal History frequently quote it under the title of "Tarik Cozidah."

Hamd Ullah Mustaufi, who is also the author of the well-known geographical work Nuzhat-ul-Qulûb, which he composed in A.H. 740

= A.D. 1339, belonged to the ancient Mustaufi family of Qazwîn. His ancestors were men of letters and of respectable social position. His brother, whom he calls Zayn-ud-Dîn Muḥammad bin Tâj-ud-Dîn Abî Bakr bîn Zayn-ud-Dîn Aḥmad bin Amîn-ud-Dîn Naṣr, was the deputy comptroller of the Wizârat under Raṣhîd-ud-Dîn, while his grandfather, who was killed at the time of the Mugal invasion, was for some time the Mustaufi of 'Irâq.

In the preface the author says that he had undertaken to write a chronicle in verse from the beginning of the prophet's time down to his own. It was to consist of seventy-five thousand distichs, of which he had written upwards of fifty thousand distichs (vide Mr. Browne's edition of the work, p. 5). The reading in this MS. is fifty-six thousand. Afterwards, considering how long his intended chronicle would take to finish, he decided to write in prose instead.

In the preface the author dedicates the work to the son and successor of his patron Khwajah Giyas-ud-Din Muḥammad (d. A H. 736 = A.D. 1336) bin Khwajah Rashid-ud-Din Fadl-Ullah, but towards the end of Book IV. the author highly eulogises another of his patrons Shams-ud-Din Muḥammad bin Nizam-ud-Din ul-Husayni ul-Yazdi, also a Wazir. The author enumerates about thirty works as those on which he bases the present composition.

The work is divided into an Introduction (Fâtiḥah), six books (Bâb), and an appendix (Khâtimah), as follows.—

Fâtiḥah.—Creation of the world, fol. 7b.

Bâb i.—Prophets and Sages from Âdam to the time of Muḥammad, fol. 9<sup>a</sup>.

Bâb ii.—Pre-Islamic kings, fol. 42ª.

Bâb iii.—Muḥammad, his Khalîfs, friends, and descendants, fol. 67°.

Bâb iv.—Islamic kings, fol. 197b.

This Bâb is divided into twelve sections, but the MS. breaks off in the middle of the tenth section with an account, براق حاجب, the first of the Qarâ Khitâ'ıs of Kırmân. The ten sections respectively treat of the history of.—(1) Banî Layş Ṣaffâr; (2) Sâmânis; (3) Ġaznawis, (4) Ġûnis; (5) Daylamis; (6) Saljûqs of Îrân, Kırmân, and Rûm; (7) Khwârazmshâhis; (8) Atâbaks of Diyârbakr and Fârs. (9) Ismâ'îlis of Magrib and Îrân.

Section 11 dealing with the history of the Atâbaks of Lur Buzurg and Lur Kûchak.

Section 12 dealing with the genealogy of the Turkish tribes, genealogy of the house of Chingîz Khân, and the history of the Mugals of Îrân.

Bâb v.—Relating to the Mujtahids, Qâris (Readers of the Qurân), traditionists, Shaykhs, 'Ulamâ and poets.

Bâb vi.—Giving an account of the author's native land Qazwîn (it has been translated by M. Barbier de Meynard in the Journal Asiatique, 5° série, vol. x., pp. 257-295.)

Khâtimah.—Containing a description of genealogical tables, devised by the author to illustrate general history, is wanting.

Compare Ḥâj. Khal., vol. v., p. 177; J. Aumer, p. 68; Rosen, Persian MSS., p. 52; Flugel, vol. ii., p. 63; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 26-30; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 19 and 20; Rieu, i., p. 80; Elliot, History of India, vol. iii., pp. 60-66.

MUJMAL-I-FASÎHÎ.

A rare but slightly defective copy of a very valuable and interesting chronological compendium of prominent events; the births, deaths, and incidents of the lives of Muhammad and his companions, the Imâms, kings, eminent authors, poets and other renowned personages, given under each year in chronological order since the date of Muhammad's birth down to A.H. 845 = A.D. 1441.

A copy of the work is mentioned in Rosen, p. 111. The Asiatic Society, Bengal, possesses another copy.

Beginning:—

After fol. 1<sup>b</sup>, fifteen folios are missing, as would appear from the original folio mark \7 on the second folio which opens thus with the 28th year of the 'Âm-ul-Fîl:—

From the second Maqâlah, which begins on fol. 4<sup>b</sup>. and treats of the events from the first year of the Hijiah to the author's time—it would appear that the author divided the work into two Maqalahs, the first dealing with the events beginning with the first year of the 'Âm-ul-Fîl, in which Muḥammad was born, down to the fifty-third year of the 'Âm-ul-Fîl, after which begins the Hijrah year. The first ten years of the Hijrah, after which the prophet died, are called by separate names, which, according to the author, were given to these years by the prophet himself. These names are thus enumerated in the following Qit'ah on fol. 5<sup>a</sup>.—

... بعد ازین تاریخ از هجرت نبوی خواهد بود - ده سال بموجبی که دربن قطعه مذکور شده و سید عالم علیه السلام هر سال را نامی نهاده و درین سال دو قول گفته اند اول هجری و سنة هجری و سنة الاذن بالرحیل نیز گفته اند - * شعر *

مال اول هجري آمد در دوم امر قتال در ميوم تميي آمد در دوم امر قتال در ميوم تميي و چارم هست ازان ترفيه حال شد زلازل پنج و استيناس شش گاه شمار همچو استغلاب هفت و استوا هشتم مقال نه براءت در دهم حج الوداع مصطفي يازده جور شد ز عالم كرد سيد انتقال

The author, who generally calls himself Ahmad bin Muḥammad, but is better known as Faṣṣḥ-ul-Khawâfi, احمد بن محمد المشتهرية, thus traces his descent (fol. 225a) from Abû Imâmah al-Bâhılî, who, according to some, was a companion of the prophet and died AH. 81 = AD. 700. See Al-Istî'âb fî Ma'ıifat-il-Aḥbâb (Hyderabad Edn.), vol. ii., p. 633—

فصيح الدبن احمد بن جلال الدين محمد بن نصير الدين يعيي بن علاء الدين محمد بن ظهير الدين ابو الفاسم محمد بن جلال الدين محمد بن نصير الدين ابو القاسم بن طهير الدين محمد بن ابو القاسم محمد بن احمد بن احمد بن محمد بن ابو الفاسم بن جلال الدين محمد بن احمد بن ابي نصر علي بن محمد بن علاء الدين عيسي بن ابي بكر بن ابو القاسم بن احمد بن محمد بن قتيبه بن ابو امامه صدي بن عجلان بن وهب الباهلي —

He flourished during the time of Sultan Shah Rukh (A.H. 807-850 = A.D. 1404-1447), and was not only an eye-witness of most of the events he narrates, but also played a prominent part in the history of his time.

Unfortunately the preface breaks off immediately after the few lines devoted to the praise of God and the prophet. In the course of his narrative the author mentions himself several times. We learn that he was born in Herat, Jamûdî I., A H. 777 = A.D. 1375, and at the age of nineteen lost his father, Jalal-ud-Dîn Muhammad bin Naşîr-ud-Dîn Yahyâ in A.H. 796 = A.D. 1393. In A.H. 807 = A.D. 1404 he and Amîr 'Abd-us-Samad bin Hâjî Sayf-ud-Dîn were sent to Samarqand to take possession of the royal treasury from 'Umar Shaykh; but being threatened with arrest by Sultan Khalîl they had to return. In A.H. 818 = A.D. 1415, the year in which his son Rukn-ud-Dîn Mahmûd was born, he was offered the post of Dîwân, to which he was appointed in the following year. In A.H. 821 = A.D. 1418 we find him suddenly dismissed from this service. In A.H. 825 = A.D. 1422, the year in which he lost his mother, he was sent to Kirmân to discharge the Dîwânî functions of that place, whence he returned in the following year. Subsequently, in A.H. 828 = A.D. 1425, he was made the Dîwân of Mirzâ Bâysungar (d. A.H. 837 = A D. 1434) (see Habîb-us-Siyar, vol. iii., Juz. 3, p. 141), who in A H. 832 = A.D. 1428, on his return from Sâ'in to Herat, left the author in Simnân to look after some state affairs, and afterwards dismissed him from the Dîwânship on the 20th of Ramadân. A.H. 836 = A.D. 1433, and put him in prison. In A.H. 838 = A.D. 1434, when plague was violently raging in Herat, the author left the place for Bâkharz, and after staying there for two months came to Âdarbayjân in A.H. 839 = A.D. 1435. Under the year A.H. 845 = A.D. 1441 the author says that he was again put in prison on the 18th Jamâdî II. and was liberated on the 4th Rajab, after which, on the 25th Dul Hillah of the same year, he got an introduction into Sultan Shah Rukh's court and was handsomely rewarded by this king.

The history concludes with a Khâtimah describing the author's birthplace, Herat:—

Towards the end, fol. 272b, we find a separate portion, written in the same hand as the text itself, containing an enumeration of the names of the prophets, kings and dynastics from the earliest time to a.h. 928 = a.d. 1521. This portion, which seems to be the work of a later writer, is divided into the following four parts called ....:

صحبفهٔ دوم از خاتم انبیا علیه التحیة و الننا تا غایت ائمهٔ معصومین علیهم السلام صحیفهٔ سیوم در ذکر ملوك عجم صحیفهٔ حهارم در دکر بنی امیه و عباسیه

The last king named is Saltân Rustum of the Âq-Quyunlû dynasty, who reigned from a II. 897-902 = a.d. 1491-1496. Then follows another enumeration of the names of the prophets, the Imâms, and the kings of the various dynasties, with a passing allusion to their birth, duration of lite or reign, and death, based on historical works enumerated in the MS. Like the preceding portion it is divided into several Sahîfahs.

Beginning on fol. 274b —

محملي از تواريح انبيا و سلاطين و ملوك طوائف كه از دبوان النسب و نظام التواريخ مسعودي و جامع المعارف حصيني و بناكتي و طبري و گزیده و كنات المعجم و جامع رشيدي و مختار حافظ ایرو مذكور است بروانات مختلفه محرر شده مسطور ميگردد —

This portion breaks off with the name of the 'Abbaside Khalif Rashid Billah, who succeeded Mustarshid Billah in a.h. 529 = a.d. 1135.

A fine copy. Written in a clear minute Nastarliq, within gold and coloured ruled borders, with a full-page illumination at the beginning.

On fol. 271", where the original history concludes with the description of Herat, the MS is dated a.u. 993.

روضة الصفا

RAUDAT-US-SAFÂ.

A general history from the creation of the world to the death of Sultan Husayn Mirza Abul Gazi Bahadur, who ruled over Persia from A.H. 873-911 = A.D. 1468-1505.

By Muḥammad bin Khâwand Shâh bin Maḥmûd, محمد بي خاوند

This work, the full title of which is روضة الصفا في سيرة الانبيا, was composed by the author at the desire of his patron, the celebrated Mîr 'Alî Shîr Nawâ'î, to whom it is dedicated.

Beginning .-

The author, who is better known as Mîr Khwând, belonged to an ancient noble Sayyid family of Bukhârâ. His father, Sayyid Burhânud-Dîn, an eminent scholar, emigrated to Balkh, where he died. Mîr Khwând was born at the beginning of A H. 837 = A.D. 1433, and spent the great portion of his life in Herat, where he secured the noble patronage of the aforesaid Mîr 'Alî Shîr. According to the Ḥabîb-us-Siyar, vol. ii., pp. 198, 339, composed by the author's grandson, Khwând Amîr, he died on the 2nd of Rajab, A.H. 903 = A D. 1493.

For a detailed account of the author and his work the following may be consulted: S. de Sacy, Notice sur Mirkhond, in his Mémoire sur les Antiquités de la Perse; Jourdain, Notices et Extraits, vol. ix., pp. 117-274; Hammer, Jahrbucher, vol. 69; Anz. Blatt, pp. 37-49; Quatremère, Journal des Savants, 1843, pp. 170-176; Morley, Descriptive Index, pp. 30-38; Elliot, History of India, vol. iv., pp. 127-140. See also Encylopaedia Britannica, 9th edition, vol. xvi., p. 449.

The work was lithographed in Teheran in A.H. 1270-74, and in Bombay in A.H. 1271. A Turkish translation was printed in Constantinople in A.H. 1258.

For editions and translations of different parts of the work see Morley, pp. 35, 36; Elliot, pp. 131-133, and Zenker, vol. i., pp. 104-106, vol. ii., p. 59.

For other copies see. Rieu, i., p. 87; J. Aumer, p. 72; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 36-69; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 24-75, etc.

The work is divided, as stated in the preface, into seven volumes, called Qism (the last of which is unfinished), and an appendix also known as the eighth volume. The fact that in the seventh volume many events are narrated which took place after the author's death leads us to doubt whether Mîr Khwând wrote any part of that last volume.

تاریم صدر جهان

TÂRÎKH-I-SADR-I-JAHÂN.

A general history from the earliest times to the ninth century of the  $H_{1|T}$ ah.

Author. Fayd Ullah bin Zayn-ul-'Âbidîn Banbânî, called Şadı-i-Jahân.

The preface is wanting in this copy, and in the colophon the work is called تواريخ گيراني, a title which has been lately added to the word كتاب, in a different hand. Among the authorities quoted by Sarûp Chand Khatrî in his Ṣahîh-ul-Akhbâr (compiled in A II. 1209 = A D. 1794), this work is called "Târîkh-i-Ṣadr-i Jahân-i-Gujarâtî," see Elliot, History of India, vol. viii, p. 314; while in the extracts transcribed from a copy of the work in the Paris Labrary for Sii II. Elliot, and preserved in the British Museum, Or. 1908, it is designated as ناريخ صدر جهان.

On fol. 336<sup>b</sup> the author, while recording the pilgrimage performed by Malık Nâşır of Egypt in A.H. 719, designates himself—and according to Rieu, p. 1079, the author was engaged, A.H. 907 = A.D. 1501, in writing this work at Muḥammadābād, Bedar, where he was sent as ambassador by Maḥmūd Shāh.

In the beginning, fol. 1<sup>n</sup>, the author makes incidental mention of the reigning king, Maḥmūd Shâh Bigarâ, of Gujarât (а.н. 863 = а.р. 1458а н. 917 = а.р. 1511)—

سلطان الاعطم منهنشاة عالم حجة الحق خليفه الله في الارص محمود شاة بن محمد ساة بن احمد ساة بن محمد شاة بن مطفر ساة غلد الله ملكه و ابد دولته —

A copy of the work is described in Rieu, p. 86b.

This copy ends with an account of , who died in A.H. 654. It lacks the concluding portion of the history containing the biographical notices of the early Arab and Persian poets, the most eminent Ashâb, the great Tâbi'în, the distinguished 'Ulamâ, Lawyers and Shaykhs, who flourished from the second to the seventh century of the Hijiah. It may be remarked that the accounts of the Ismâ'îlis kings given in this work agree in most places word for word with those of the Târîkh-i-Waṣṣâf (noticed later on), and it seems very possible that the author has abstracted these accounts from Waṣṣâf.

In the beginning all the sections before the history of Muhammad have no rubnes.

خلاصة الاخبار

KHULÂŞAT-UL-AKHBÂR.

A general history from the earliest times to A.H. 905 = A D. 1499. By Giyâṣ-ud-Din bin Humâm-ud-Dîn, surnamed Khwând Amîr, غيات الدين بن همام الدين الملقب بغواند امير.

The full title of the work is خلاصة الاخبار في بيان احوال اخيار Beginning .—

The author abridged this work from his maternal grandfather Mîr Khwând's well-known historical work Raudat-uş-Ṣafā. It is a very excellent compendium of Asiatic history, written at the request of the celebrated Wazîr Mîr 'Alî Shîr.

For references to the work see. Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, pp. 38-42; Elliot, Biographical Index, p. 106, and History of India, vol. iv., p. 141; Hāj. Khal., vol. in., p. 163; Rieu, i, p. 96; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 83-86; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 76-73; G. Flugel, vol. ii., p. 68, etc.

A great portion of the work has been translated by Major David Price in his Retrospect of Mohammedan History.

The author, in his preface to the Habíb-us-Siyar (noticed below) says that he commenced the work in A.H. 927 = A.D. 1521, when he was about forty-eight years of age, and we can, therefore, conclude that he was born (at Herat) in about A.H. 880 = A.D. 1475. From his early youth he was fond of historical works. He secured the patronage of Wazîr Mir 'Alî Shîr, who placed his library, which consisted of most valuable works, in charge of the author, and thus he was able to collect stores of historical information. On several occasions Khwând Amîr was entrusted with public services, which he discharged with great credit. In A.H. 909 = A.D. 1503 he was sent by Sultan Badîr uz-Zamân on a diplomatic mission to Khusrau Shâh, the chief of Kundûz, and subsequently he was appointed to the post of Ṣadr, an office for some time held by his uncle. In A.H. 916 = A.D. 1510, when Shâh Ismâ'il overthrew the power of the Uzbeks, Khwând Amîr went to Basht, a village of Garjistân or Georgia, and spent his time in literary pursuits. After sojourning there for a long time the author repaired in A.H. 934 = A.D. 1525 to India, and reached Agrah on the 4th of Muharram, A.H. 935 = A.D. 1526, on which day he was received by the emperor Bâbur. The author enjoyed the warm favour of this emperor, and accompanied him on his expedition to Bengal. On the death of Bâbur the author attached himself to Humâyûn, in whose praise he wrote the Humâyûn Nâmah, which he brought down to the end of the year A.H. 941 = A.D. 1534. He accompanied Humâyûn to Gujarât, and died there in A.H. 941 = A.D. 1534. According to his own desire his body was taken to Dihlî and buried by the side of the celebrated saint Nizâm-ud-Dîn Auliyâ and Amîr Khusiau, both of whom he had held in high veneration. Firishtah, referring to our author's death, says thus .--

...و جنت آسیانی نزدیك برهانبرر شده و آن مملکت را زیر و زبر کرده بمندو آمد—دران آوان مولف کتاب حبیب السیر ملازم رکاب بود بمرض اسهال از جهان گذران در گذشته برحمت ایردی پیوست و حسب الوصیت نعش او را بدهلی برده در جوار سیخ نظام الدین اولیا و امیر خسرو مدفون گردانیدند—

The author's son Sayyid 'Abd Ullah Khân served under Akbar.

Besides the present work and the Humâyûn Namah, the author wrote several other works, e.g., the Habib-us-Siyar, the Makâtim ul-Akhlâq (a.u. 906 = a.d. 1500), the Dastûr-ul-Wuzarâ (a.u. 915 = a d. 1509), the Ma'âsir-ul-Mulûk, the Akhbât-ul-Akhyât, the Muntakhab-1-Tâtîkh-i-Wassât, and the Jawâhir-ul-Akhbâr. A work called the Garâ'ib-ul-Asrâr is also ascribed to him. See Elliot, History of India, vol. iv., pp. 142–43.

For a full account of the author's life see Quatremère, Journal des Savants, 1843, pp. 386-394, and Elliot, History of India, vol. iv., pp. 141-45, and vol. v., p. 116. See also Reinaud, Biogr. Univ., under Khondemyr.

The work is divided into a Muqaddimah, ten Maqalahs, and a Khâtimah, as follows.—

Muqaddinah.—About the creation of the world, fol. 2b.

Maqâlah I.—The prophets, fol. 4'.

Maqalah II.—The Greek philosophers, fol. 47*.

Maqâlah III.—The early kings of Persia, viz, the Pîshdâdians, the Kayânians, the Ashkânians, and the Sâsânians. The Arab kings, viz., the Lakhmis, the Ġassânians, and the Himyaris, fol. 50°.

Maqâlah IV.—Muḥammad, fol. 82b.

Maqâlah V.—The first Khalîfs (Râ $\underline{sh}$ idîn) and the twelve Imâms, fol. 111<sup>b</sup>.

Maqâlah VI.—The Khalîfs of the Banû Umayyah, fol. 133a.

Magâlah VII.—The Khalîfs of the Banû 'Abbâs, fol. 153b.

Maqâlah VIII — Treating of the dynasties contemporary with, or subsequent to the 'Abbāsides, viz., the Ṭāhiris on fol. 185°; the Saffāris on fol. 186°; the Samānis on fol. 188°; the Âl-i-Buwayh on fol 192°, Qābūs bīn Washmagīr on fol. 197°; the Ġaznawis on fol. 198°; the Ismā'īlis of Magrib on fol. 204°; the Ismā'īlis of Îrân on fol. 207°; the Saljūqis on fol 211°, the Khwārazmshāhis on fol. 225°; the Atābaks of Mausil on fol. 235°, of Âdarbārjān on fol. 236°; of Fārs on fol. 237°, and of Luristān on fol. 239°; the Qarākhītā'îs on fol 240°; the Al-i-Muzaffar on fol. 242°, the Sarbadārs on fol. 254°; the Ġūris on fol. 257°.

There is a large lacuna after fol. 257. The history of the Guis breaks off with an incomplete account of ملطان علاء الدين حسين, and on fol. 258<sup>a</sup> the MS. abruptly opens with the account of Mirzâ Sulţân Abû Saʿīd's treaty with Mirzâ Jahân Shâh; so that the latter portion of the eighth Maqâlah, the whole of the ninth Maqâlah, and the first portion of the tenth Maqâlah, are missing.

The history proper in the text ends with the second accession of Sultan Husayn in A.H. 875 = A.D. 1470, but some meagre notices relating to the sons of Sultan Abû Sa'îd down to A.H. 905 = A.D. 1499 are found at the conclusion of the tenth Maqâlah. The latest event mentioned is that of the death of Sultan Husayn Bahâdur Khân and the joint reign of Badî'-uz-Zamân and Muzaffar Husayn Miizâ.

The Khâtımah dealing with the description of Herat, which is followed by the biographical notices of the contemporary eminent persons, begins on fol. 281°.

This old and correct copy is written in beautiful minute Nasta'liq, within gold-ruled borders.

Dated A.H. 966.

حبيب السير

HABÎB-US-SIYAR.

A general history from the creation of the world to A.H. 930 = A.D. 1523.

By Ġiyâṣ-ud-Dîn bin Humâm-ud-Dîn, surnamed Khwând Amîr, غيامه الدين بن همام الدين الملقب بخواند امير. (See above, No. 463).

Beginning:-

لطایف اخبار لآلی ننار انبیاء عالی مقدار و شرایف آثار ملاطین ذوی الاقتدار الن

The author wrote the present work subsequently to his historical work entitled خلاصة الاخبار في بيان احوال اخيار (See above).

The full title of the present work is عبيب السير في اخبار افراد

The author undertook the compilation at the desire of his pation, Giyâş-ud-Dîn Muḥammad bin Yûsuf-ul-Ḥusaynî, who enjoyed the warm favour of Sultan Husayn and of his successors, Badî'-uz-Zamân and the Uzbek Shaybanî. When he was engaged in writing the first volume, it happened that his patron, who about that time had been appointed Qâdî of Khurâsân and administrator of Herat by Shâh Ismâ'îl Şafawî, was killed by Amîr Khân. This took place in A.H. 927 = Ap. 1521. Having lost his patron the author gave up all hopes of completing the work; but in the same year, when Karîm-ud-Dîn Habîb Ullah, a good scholar and historian, was entrusted with the administration of Herat, the author got an introduction to him and received encouragement to continue his work. He entitled the work Habîb-us-Siyar after Habîb Ullah, and brought down his account of the reigning sovereign Shah Isma'il to Rabi' I, A.H. 930 = A.D. 1524. In that year he probably completed this work. There are two chronograms at the end of the third volume, viz. آلار and خبر از جهانیان Mr. Elliot (Bib. Index, vol. i., p. 122), however, but on the authority of only one MS., states that the author did not complete his work until A.H. 935 = A.D. 1528.

For other copies see Rieu, i., p. 98; Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, p. 42; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 70-82; Ethé, Ind. Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 79-98; G. Flugel, ii., p. 70; J. Aumer, p. 75; etc.

Printed. Tihrân, A.H. 1271; Bombay, A.H. 1273.

Although the work is an abridgement of the Raudat-us-Safâ, it contains accounts of several dynasties omitted in that work. After treating of a dynasty the author gives biographical notices of eminent persons of the time. These are not to be found in Raudat-us-Safâ.

The whole work is divided into three volumes (مجلّه), each subdivided into four chapters (جزء).

The present copy consists of the first two volumes of the work:—

Vol. I.

Introduction (افتتاح) about the creation, Iblîs, the Jinns, etc, fol. 6<sup>b</sup>.

Chapter i.—History of the prophets and philosophers before Islâmism, fol. 9<sup>b</sup>.

Chapter ii.—History of the kings of Arabia and Persia before Muḥammad, fol. 96<sup>b</sup>.

Chapter iii.—History of Muhammad, fol. 158b.

Chapter iv.—History of the first four Khalîfs, fol. 232*.

Vol. II.

Beginning.—

تاريخ ابوالخير خاني

TÂRÎKH-I-ABUL KHAYR KHÂNÎ.

A general history from the creation of the world down to the 10th century of the Muhammadan era, with a long account of the reign of Abul Khayr Khân of Qipchâq, written by command of the Uzbek, king Kûchkûnjî's son, Abul Gâzî Sulţân 'Abd-ul-Laţîf Bahâdur Khân, who succeeded his brother, 'Abd Ullah on the throne of Mâwarâ-un-Nahr in A.H. 947 = A.D. 1540 and died A.H. 959 = A.D. 1551.

.مسعودي بن عنمان كوهستاني By Mas ûdî bin 'Uşmân Kûhistânî,

Beginning:-

Abul Khayr Khân, after whom the work îs named, was the son of Daulat Shaykh Oghlan, and a descendant of Jûjî, son of Chingîz Khân. He was the founder of the Uzbek dynasty, and was born, as stated by the author of the present work, fol.  $214^b$ , in A.H. 816 = A.D. 1413.

He added Khwârazm to Qipchâq in A.H. 839 = A.D. 1436, and died, according to the present author, fol. 241°, in A.H. 874 = A.D. 1469, at the age of fifty-seven.

In the lengthy preface the author, after praising God, the Prophet, the first four Khalifs, and others, showers praises upon his sovereign, Abul Ġazî Sulṭan 'Abd-ul-Laṭif Bahadur Khan, at whose command he wrote the present work.

Although Dr. Rieu, p. 103<sup>a</sup>, while noticing a copy of this work, remarks. "(The Târîkh-i-Abul Khayr Khânî) contains no reference to the author's sources," we find that the author mentions several times the following works —

After fol. 158, four folios are placed in wrong order. The right order should be: 158, 162, 160, 161, 159, after which the correct order is maintained.

Hulâkû Khân and his successors, fol. 160<sup>b</sup>. This section is brought down to the account of Sulṭân Aḥmad Jalâ'ir, who was defeated and killed in Tabıîz by the Turcoman Qarâ Yûsuf in A.H. 813 = A.D. 1410.

This date is expressed here, fol. 187°, by the following chronogram, composed at the request of Sultan Shah Rukh by one Khwajah 'Abdul Qadır Musiqadan, or musician, خواجه عبد القادر موسيقي دار.

who for some time was attached to the service of the aforesaid Sultan Ahmad Jala'ır:—

This chronogram is also found in the Mujmal-i-Faṣiḥi (noticed above) under the year A H. 813, fol. 257<sup>b</sup>.

The author then gives a list of the names of the sons and descendants, called ants, called ants,

History of Tîmûr and his descendants, on fol. 196<sup>a</sup>. This section gives a short history of Tîmûr and his descendants, with an account of the battle between Sulţân Ḥusayn and Mirzâ Abû Bakr bin Sulţân Abû Sa'îd, who was killed by the former.

The author devotes the remaining portion of the work to the history of Abul Khayr Khân, which he treats as a fresh piece, commencing it with and and system usually observed by Muhammadan writers in the beginning of a book.

Beginning on fol. 213b.-

After dealing at some length with Abul Khayr Khân's birth, which took place in A.H. 816 = A.D. 1413, and his accession, the author relates the following —

Account of a battle between Maḥmûd Khwâjah and Abul Khayr Khân, in which the former was routed and killed, fol. 221°. Abul Khayr Khân became the master of a great treasure, that had been preserved in the Fort of Khwârazm by its former governors. The author says that he learnt this fact from Sîvînj Khân, son of Abul Khayr Khân.

The defeats of Mahmud Khan and Ahmad Khan by Abul Khayr Khan at Îkrîtûb ایکری توب ایکری. fol. 223<sup>b</sup>.

Account of the battle in which Mustafa Khan was routed by Abul Khayr Khan, fol. 225a.

Abul Khayr Khân's expedition against the fortress of Ṣiġnâq, fol. 226<sup>6</sup>.

The arrival of Abû Sa'îd Mirzâ at the Khân's court, fol. 227b. It is said here that Abul Khayr Khân received Abû Sa'îd Mirzâ with great honour, and helped him in the conquest of Samarqand. In this conflict 'Abd Ullah bin Ibrâhîm Sulţân, the King of Samarqand, was killed on the 10th Jamâdî I, A.H. 855 = A.D. 1452, and Abul Khayr Khân placed the government of Samarqand in the hand of Abû Sa'îd. The author narrates here the following interesting incident:—It is said that at this time, when Abul Khayr Khân had taken up his position on the battlefield, the heat of the sun was unbearable; so he ordered the Yadahchîs, when Abul Khayr Khân had taken up his position on called Yadahchî), to work with their stones, and the result, as expected, was that the sky suddenly became cloudy and rain began to fall in showers.—

جون آنجماعت (یده چیان) بعمل یده مشغول شدند و سنگها را در کار آوردند بفرمان رب العالمین . . . ابر آسمانی در تابستان چون سحاب نیسانی باریدن آغاز نهاد —

Abul Khayr Khân's march against the King of Qilmâq, called here قيلماق, who retreated after making a treaty with the Khân, fol.  $234^{\rm b}$ .

The author, after rapidly passing over the latter part of Abul Khayr Khân's reign, closes his narration with the record of the Khân's death in A.H. 874 = A.D. 1469, at the age of seventy-five. The author then enumerates the children of Abul Khayr, with a short account of those who reigned in Samarqand and Khurâsân, e.g. Muḥammad Shaybânî Khân (A.H 906-916 = A.D. 1500-1510); Abul Khayr Khân Sîvînj, son of Abul Khayr Khân, who came to take possession of Samarqand, but resigned it to his brother, Abul Manṣūr Kūch-Kūnjī Khân; the latter's son, Sulţân Abū Sa'īd Bahâdur; Abul Gâzî 'Abd-ul-Laţīf Bahâdur Khân, by whose order the author wrote the present work, 'Abd Ullah Sulţân, brother of 'Abd-ul-Laţīf, who was proclaimed in Turkistan.

The work seems to be very rare. One copy is mentioned only in Rieu, p. 102.

The present copy is fine, old and correct.

In the following colophon, at the end, the scribe, who calls himself Hafiz Bukhari, says that he completed the transcription of this copy on Monday, the 2nd of Ramadan, A.H. 999.—

حمد و سپاس مر خداي راست كه سلاطين جهان بر آستالهٔ عظمتش كمينه بندگانند —

Amîr Yahyâ bin 'Abd-ul-Laṭif, to whom Ḥâj. Khal., vol. v., p. 307, gives the name of Ismâ'îl bin 'Abd-ul-Laṭif, and who in the Ma'âṣir-ul-Umarâ is called Mîr Yahyâ Ḥusaynî Sayfî, belonged to the Sayfî branch of the Qazwînî Sayyids. According to a notice at the end of Rieu's copy of this work (Add. 23,512), the author was born in A.H. 885. His biographers agree in remarking that the author was so exceptionally well-versed in the knowledge of history, that he knew by heart the date of every important event from the Hijiah to his own time. He was a great favourite of Shâh Tahmâsp, who treated him with such honour and distinction that his enemies, being jealous of his position, poisoned the king's mind by representing that Yaḥyà and his son, 'Abdul-Laṭîf, were the leading men among the Sunnîs of Qazwîn. So he was imprisoned at Iṣfahân by the imperial order in A.H. 960 = A.D. 1553, and died there on the 23rd Rajab, A.H. 962 = A.D. 1555, at the age of seventy-seven. Hâj. Khal. fixes the author's death in A.H. 960 = A.D. 1553. His son Mîr 'Abd-ul-Laṭîf, who came to India and was appointed by Akbar as his tutor, died at Sikrî in A.H. 971 = A.D. 1563, while his other son, 'Alâ-ud-Daulah, better known as Kâmî, is, as we know, the author of the excellent biographical work, called Nafâ'is-ul-Ma'âṣir. The celebrated Naqîb Khân (d. A.H. 1023 = A.D. 1623), who held high manṣabs under Akbar and Jahângîr and married two of his cousins into the royal family, was the grandson of the present author.

For the author see. Haft Iqlîm; Ma'âṣir-ul-Umarâ; Blochmann's Â'în-i-Akbarî, vol. i., p. 447. The work has been described by Sir H. M. Elliot, Biographical Index, p. 134, and History of India, vol. iv., pp. 293-297; some extracts are to be found in Dorn, Asiatisches Museum, p. 670, and Mélanges Asiatiques, vol. i., p. 3. A Latın translation, with the title "Medulla Historiarum," was published in A. F. Busching's "Magazin fur die neue Historie und Geographie," vol. xvii., Halle, 1783.

The work was written, as stated in the preface, by the desire of Prince Abu'l Fath Bahrâm Minzâ, the fourth son of Shâh Ismâ'îl Safawî, and was completed on the 20th Dul-Hijjah, A.H. 948 = A.D. 1541; but like the copy mentioned in Ricu (Add. 23,512), p. 105b, it contains several accounts of a later period which are foreign to the original; for instance, the death of the emperor Humâyûn in A.H. 936 = A.D. 1529, which is followed by a very short account of the reign of Akbar, who is spoken of in the present tense, and his conquests extending from Bengal to Badakhshân and from Gujalât to the mountain of Sawâlik. Moreover, several notes relating to the birth and death of distinguished men and royal personages, and other events of historical importance, are given on the margins in a different hand; e.g., the last note on the margin of fol. 168a, relating to Bahrâm Mirzâ, of whom it is said, that he died on Thursday night, the 19th of Ramadân, A.H. 956 = A.D. 1548, and that his body was sent to Mashhad for interment.

نگارستان

NIGÂRISTÂN.

A collection of narratives and interesting accounts, extracted from the standard works of Muhammadan history, and arranged in proper order under the dynasties to which they relate. These accounts extend from the time of the Prophet to A.H. 959 = A.D. 1551, the year in which the work was composed.

Author—Ibn Muḥammad Aḥma.'
Beginning.—

اي طرازندهٔ بهارستان و اي نگارندهٔ نگارستان

The author, whose full name is Aḥmad bin Muḥammad bin 'Abdul-Ġafūr al-Ġaffānî al-Qazwīnī, is better known by the name of Qâḍî Aḥmad Ċaffānī, القزويني القزويني عبد الغفور الغفاري القزويني.

His father, Qâqî Muḥammad Gaffârî, who was the Qâqî of Ray, and composed poetry under the poetical nom de plume Wâṣilî, died in A.H. 933 = A.D. 1526. Qâqî Aḥmad, who is highly spoken of as a good prose writer, also composed poetry, and left, in addition to the present work, the well-known history called Jahân Ârâ, which he composed in A.H. 972 = A.D. 1564, and dedicated to Shâh Tahmâsp Ṣafawî. After his return from a pilgrimage to Mecca, he died at Sind in A.H. 975 = A.D. 1567.

See Haft Iqlîm, Tuḥfaḥ-i-Sâmî, fol. 75<sup>b</sup>, Badâ'ûnî and Sprenger, p. 55.

From the nature of the airangement observed in the work it is rather difficult to give an exact idea of the contents without mentioning each anecdote. This has been already done by M. Kiaft, Catalogue, pp. 87-90.

See also Hammer, Schone Redekunste, pp. 307-9; Morley, Descriptive Cat., p. 50: Dorn, S. Petersburg Cat., p. 276<sup>b</sup>, and Asiatisches Museum, p. 676; Elliot, History of India, vol. ii., p. 504; Hâj. Khal., VI., p. 381.

Lithographed at Bombay, A.H. 1245 and 1275. A Turkish translation of the work in MS. is preserved in the British Museum, Add. 7852.

In the preface the author enumerates thirty works which he has used in writing the present work. The first of these is the Bal'ami's translation of Tabari's history, and the last two mentioned are the عمالس النفايس; and, as in Rieu's copy (Add. 26,286), five more works, omitted by Kraft, p. 87, and by Dorn, Asiat. Mus., p. 677, are mentioned in this copy.

The date of composition, A.H. 959 = A.D. 1551, is given in the following chronogram with which the work concludes.—

ازین روضه که از فرط نوادر سود هر دم نگاری تازه لامع پی تاریخ و نامش فکر کردم خرد گفتا که هست این نکته جامع چو در واقع نگارستان چین است از آن آمد نگارستان واقع

The words نگارستان واقع are equal to 959.

This fine, ancient copy is written in a beautiful clear Nasta'lîq within gold ruled borders, with a double paged 'unwân at the beginning.

Dated 5th Rajab, A.H. 1018.

صبح صادق

SUBH-I-SÂDIQ.

A very comprehensive, historical, biographical and geographical work from the earliest times to A.H. 1048 = A.D. 1638.

By Muḥammad Ṣâdiq bin Muḥammad Ṣâliḥ-ul-Iṣfahânî-ul-Âzâdânî, محمد صادق بن محمد صالح الاصفهاني الآزاداني.

The complete work, as mentioned in the preface to the first volume, is divided into four volumes, each of which is subdivided into several sections (مطلع). This library, however, possesses only the first two volumes, bound in four separate parts.

Beginning with an Arabic preface thus .-

In this preface the author says that he commenced the composition of the work in A.H. 1041 = A.D. 1631, and completed it in the beginning of A.H. 1048 = A.D. 1638.

The Arabic preface is followed on fol. 4a by a Persian prose preface, which begins thus:—

Dr. Ethé (Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 102) very curiously makes the wrong assertion that the author dedicated the work to the emperor Jahângîr, who died in A.H. 1037 = A.D. 1627, that is, four years before the author commenced the work. The author, in his preface to the first volume, as well as in those to the second and third, distinctly says that he dedicated the work to Sulţân Shujâ', the second son of Shâh Jahân. It seems that the word palian, which occurs in the preface of the first volume, and which the author uses there merely as a title of honour for Shujâ' and not as a name, has somehow or other led the learned Doctor to believe that the dedication is meant for Jahângîr, the emperor:—

Only a few lines before the above quotation, the author very distinctly dedicates the work to Sultan Shuja. .—

. . . آنرا صبح صادق نام نهادم و بنام نامي و اسم سامي آفتاب هفت اقليم — گوهر افزاي تضت و ديهيم — . . . باسط امن و امان — ناصر اسلام و ايمان — وارب سرير سليمان — مفخر

دودمان صاحبقران — صاحب جهان و جهانیان — آفتاب ملوك شاه شجاع . . . زیب و زینت دادم — الح

The above statement is further supported by the author of the Guli-Ra'na, fol. 145a, who gives a long sketch of Muhammad Sadiq's life extracted from the author's autobiography given in the 12th Matla' of the third volume of the present work.

See also Rieu, p. 889; Khazânah-i-'Âmirah, p. 7; Sprenger, Oude Cat., p. 144, nos. 7-8, and Elliot, History of India, vol. vi., p. 453.

The author, Muhammad Sâdig, was born on Sunday, the 3rd of Sha'ban, A.H. 1018 = A.D. 1609, at Sûrat, where his father, Muhammad Sâlıh was serving under the celebrated 'Abd-ur-Rahîm Khân Khânân. In A.H. 1026 = A.D. 1617 Muhammad Sådig came to Burhânpûr, whence, in the ensuing year, after staying for some time at Malwah, he went to Ilâhâbâd with his father, who, soon after his arrival, got the office of the Dîwân from Prince Parwîz. In AH. 1029 = AD. 1619 the author came to Patna, and after spending here and at Jaunpûr some years in study, in the course of which he enjoyed the learned society of several eminent poets and scholars, in A.H. 1035 = A.D. 1625 he went to the Deccan to meet his father, who had gone there in the train of Prince Parwîz. In A H. 1036 = A D 1626, when he was staying with his father in Ilichpûr, he received the news of Parwîz's death at Burhânpûr. After the prince's death, the author, after staying for some time at Burhânpûr, went to the camp of Shâh Jahân, by whom he was appointed a chronicler. After the death of Jahangir (A H. 1037 = A.D 1627) he came to Âgrah and received from Shâh Jahân a Jâgîr in Bengal. On his way to Bengal he visited Jaunpur and Patna, and in the latter place made the acquaintance of Qasim Khan, who at this time, A.H. 1038 = A.D. 1628, having been appointed the Governor of Bengal, was proceeding to that province. The author then came to Jahangirnagar in the company of Qasım Khan. After the death of that general, A.H. 1042 = A.D. 1632, he attached himself to A'zam Khân, who succeeded Qâsim Khân in Bengal. His father, Muhammad Sâlıh, died on the 18th Shawwâl, A.H. 1043 = A D. 1633, leaving, besides the author, three sons, viz., Muhammad Taqî, who was then in Persia, Muhammad Sa'îd and Muhammad Ja'far, who were then living in Bengal. When the author and his brothers were on the point of being imprisoned for some government debts due from their father, they were saved by Mîr 'Alî Hamadânî, the Badakhshî of Bengal. When Islâm Khân became the Governor of Bengal, the author did not receive the favour he expected from him, but, on the other hand, at the instigation of some of his enemies, was sent to Salîmâbâd, where he remained in confinement until Sha'ban, A.H. 1048 = AD. 1638, when Sayf Khan Qazwînî gave him an honourable post. The date of the author's death is not recorded by any of his biographers, but as in another of his works entitled when the control of the cont

The contents of the work have been stated by Sir II. Elliot, History of India, vol. vi. p. 453.

The third volume, dealing with the celebrated men of the first ten centuries, and the fourth, which contains the alphabetical list of the names of nations, countries, etc., and gives a geographical account of the world, are unfortunately wanting in this Library.

MUNTAKHAB-UT-TAWÂRÎKH.

A very comprehensive universal history from the beginning of the world to the time of Shâh Jahân.

By Muḥammad Yûsuf bin Shaykh Raḥmat Ullah ul-Atakî ul-Kan'ânî, محمد يوسف بن شيخ رحمة الله الاتكى الكنعاني.

The MS. is defective at the beginning, but from the preface of the *Bûhâr Library copy, in which the author designates himself, بوصف appear that he was born in Kan'an (?) but of a family that belonged to Atak, Panjab, where he lived. The author dedicates the work to Shah Jahan:—

ناصر العق و الدين ابو المظفر شهاب الدبن محمد صاحبقران ثاني شاه جهان بادشاه غازي

He frankly admits that his work consists of extracts transcribed from other works —

. . . بهمان عبارت که در نسخ مذکوره مسطور بود انتخاب نموده به منتجب التواريخ موسوم ساخت

The author enumerates these works as his authorities —

- (١) ترجمه تاريخ محمد بي جرير الطبري
  - (٢) تارىخ معتم
- (٣) نارېخ گزېده حمد الله مستومي قزوبني
  - (٩) مجمع الانساب

    - (٢٠) نفعات مولانا عبد الرحمان جامي
      - (٢١) عجائب البلدان
      - (۲۲) عجائب الدنياي شيخ آذري

According to Rieu, loc. cit., the work was completed on the 15th of  $\underline{D}$ ul  $\underline{H}$ ijjah, A.H. 1056 = A.D. 1646, while our copy bears several earlier dates.

In the detailed description of the contents given in the beginning (foll.  $2^{b}-13^{b}$ ) the author mentions A.H. 1039 = A D 1629 as the current year.—

طبقهٔ بیست و بنجم کورکانیان نوزده پادشاه مدی پادشاهی ایسان از سنه اعدی و سبعین و سبعمایهٔ تا زمان تحریر سطور که سنه تسع و تلنین و الف است الن

The same date, A.H. 1039, is again mentioned on fol.  $400^{\text{a}}$ , while later on the date A.H. 1045 = A.D. 1635 is mentioned in several places. Again, on fol.  $464^{\text{b}}$  the author, while referring to the descendants of Mîrân Shâh, mentions A.H. 1047 = A.D. 1637 as the current year —

سعبهٔ سیوم اولاد امجاد و اعفاد عالی نژاد حضرت میران ساه بن امیر تیمور صاحبقران مدت سلطنت و زمان خلافت و جهانگیری این سلسله علیه و شعبهٔ معظمه باستقلال از زمان فوت مرزا عبد الله بن شاهرخ سلطان بن صاحبقران که در سنه خمس و خمسین و ثمانمایة واقع شد تا این تاریخ که شهور سنه سبع و اربعین و الف است . . . الن

It would therefore seem that, according to the present copy, the author commenced this work in A.H. 1039, and that he was still engaged on it in A.H. 1047.

Although the list of the descendants of Tîmûr, enumerated in the beginning, ends with the name of Shah Jahan and the dates to which the author refers as current years correspond with the reign of this emperor, the portion in the text dealing with the Timurides closes with an account relating to the 39th year of Akbar's reign, A.H. 1002 = A.D. 1593, in which year it is said that Mirzâ Rustum bin Sultân Husayn with his relatives came to the imperial court.

The MS. opens abruptly thus on fol. 2".—

Like Rieu's MS, it is divided into a Muqaddimah, five Qisms and a Khâtımah, with minute subdivisions.

MIR'ÂT-UL-'ÂLAM.

A very excellent and trustworthy compendium of eastern history and biography from the earliest times to the reign of Aurangzib, compiled in A.H. 1078 = A.D. 1667.

Beginning .-

برترین گوهري که تاجداران کشور فصاحت و تغت نشینان خطه بالاغت را پیرایهٔ افتخار باشد الن

This valuable history, usually ascribed to Bakhtawar Khan, is really the work of Muhammad Baga of Saharanpur. Khân's claim to the authorship for himself has led Dr. Dorn, Colonel Dow, W. H. Morley and others to ascribe the work to him. Even Khuda Bakhsh Khan, the founder and donor of this Library, in his Mahbûh-ul-Albâb (lithographed, 1896), ascribes the work to Bakhtawar Khan; but Muhammad Shafi, the sister's son of Muhammad Baqâ, in his edition of the Mir'ât-i-Jahân Numâ, which is an enlarged recension of the Mir'at-ul-'Alam, and which, like the shorter work, is due to the authorship of Muhammad Baqâ, distinctly says that Muhammad Baga wrote the work Mir'at-ul-'Alam for Bakhtawar Khan. This presumed author, who in several places in the work boldly claims the authorship for himself, does not mention Muhammad Baqa's name in the preface. In the biographical portion of the work Bakhtawar Khan has inserted a short notice of the real author, in which he says that Baga'î Saharanpûrî, with his original name Shaykh Muhammad Bagâ, was an eminent writer of prose and poetry, specially well versed in history, and was personally known to the emperor. He also adds that Baqa'î was his intimate friend, and "assisted him" in the composition of the present work.

Muhammad Bakhtawar Khan was a favourite eunuch of 'Alamgir, who, after his accession to the throne, conferred upon him the title of Khân. In the tenth year of the reign he was raised to the rank of one thousand, and in the thirteenth year was entrusted with the office of Dârogah-i-Khawâsân. He died in the 28th year of 'Âlamgîr's reign, A.H. 1096 = A.D. 1685. In the preface to this work Bakhtawar Khan states that from an early age he had a strong inclination towards historical books, which he studied with great interest. He had a longfelt desire to write a historical work, until, in the time of 'Alamgir, to whom the Mir'ât-ul-'Âlam is dedicated, he set himself to accomplish his wish, completing the work in A.H. 1078 = A.D. 1668, for which he gives the chronogram آئينة بغت. From the account given by this presumed author of himself (fol. 430b) we learn that he wrote several other works, the first of which, he says, was the Chahâr Â'inah, containing an account of the four battles by which Aurangzib won the throne; abridgments of the Hadiqah of Sana'i, the Kulliyat of 'Attar, the Masnawi of Maulana Rum, of the Raudat-ul-Ahbab and of the Târîkh-1-Alfî; a large Bayâd entitled Sawâd-i-A'zam, and a biography of Saints called Riyad-ul-Auliya consisting of selecti ns from the Tadkirat-ul-Auliyâ, the Nafaḥât, the Rashhât, the Akhbâr-ul-Akhyâr, and other books. This is followed by a detailed account of the buildings founded by the author, among which he mentions the villages Bakhtâwarnagar and Bakhtâwarpûr named after him.

From the notice on Muḥammad Baqâ's life given by Muḥammad Shafi', and from other sources, we can gather the following facts for a biographical account of this eminent author whose claim to authorship has been so much depreciated.

His real name was Shaykh Muhammad, and he adopted the poetical nom de plume Baqû. He belonged to a learned and distinguished family. and the first of his ancestors, Khwajah Diya-ud-Dîn, a descendant of the celebrated saint Khwajah 'Abd Ullah Harawî, came to India from Herat during the reign of Fîrûz Shâh in A.H. 754 = AD. 1353 He was kindly treated by the emperor, and received many favours and honours at his hands. He was appointed Sûbahdâr of Multân, and in recognition of his meritorious services was honoured with the title of Malık Mardân Daulat. His descendants settled in Sahâranpûr, where his great grandfather Shaykh 'Abd-us-Sattar died in A.H. 905 = A.D. 1499. Muhammad Baga was born in Saharanpûr, in A.H. 1037 = A.D. 1628. At an early age he applied his mind to study, and after learning the Qur'an by heart, and after studying for some time with his father, Shaykh Gulâm Muhammad, he went to Sirhind, where he continued his studies under Shaykh 'Abd Ullah, surnamed Mian Hadrat. He also made the acquaintance of Shaykh Nûr-ul-Hagg, son of the celebrated Shaykh 'Abd-ul-Haqq Dihlawî (d. A.H. 1052 = A.D. 1642), and learnt Hadis and Sufism from him. death of his father, Muhammad Baqa became the disciple of Shaykh Muhammad Ma'sûm Sirhindî, and began to lead a retired life, devoting his whole attention to worship and devotion. He was, however, invited to the imperial court of Dihli by Iftikhâr Khân (Bakhtâwar Khâu), who secured for the author an honourable office. He erected several buildings and founded the village Bagapurah, including a garden and a mosque, which was finished in A.H. 1084. Towards the end of his life he was appointed Sarkin of Saharanpar and died there in A.H. 1094 = A D. 1683.

According to Muḥammad Shafi', Muhammad Baqâ's compositions are —A Majmû'ah in A.H. 1077, consisting of extracts from the Ḥadîqah of Sanâ'î, the Manțiq uṭ-Ṭayr of 'Aṭṭai, and the Masnawi of Maulânâ Rûm; the Mir'ât-ul-'Âlam written for Bakhtâwai Khân; a Riyâḍ-ul-Auliyâ and a Tadkirat-ush-Shu'aiâ, the authorship of all of which is boldly claimed by Bakhtâwai Khân in the Mir'ât-ul-'Âlam.

The Mir'ât-i-Jahân Numâ, an enlarged recension of the Mir'ât-ul-'Âlam, and likewise due to the authorship of Muḥammad Baqâ, was edited by his sister's son Muḥammad Shafi'. A later recension, with some additions and numerous divisions, and under the same title Mir'ât-i-Jahân Numâ, was edited by Muḥammad Baqâ's younger brother Muḥammad Ridâ.

It is therefore evident that Muhammad Baqâ is the real author of the various works mentioned above, and that he attributed all his labours to his friend Bakhtawar Khân, through whose influence he secured high positions in the imperial court.

Fortunately, in the above case Bakhtâwar Khân at least admits that he "received assistance" in the composition of the work, while the most singular of such instances is the Majâlis-ul-'Ushshâq, the exclusive authorship of which is so boldly claimed by Sultân Ḥusayn Mirzâ for himself, and the name of the real author, Kamâl-ud-Dîn Ḥusayn Kârizgâhî, so mysteriously concealed. The authorship of this Kamâl-ud-Dîn would have remained a mystery had not the emperor Bâbui in his memoirs, Khân Khânân's Persian translation, enlightened us thus:—

دارد معالس العساق نام بنام سلطان حسين ميرزا بسته نوشته است — اين عجب كولانه امريست كه در ديباچه سلطان حسين ميرزا تصنيف و نعربر مست گفته نوسته . . .

See also Haft Iqlim, fol. 55, where the works مجالس العساق and are said to be the compositions of the aforesaid Kamâl-ud-Dîn.

Cat., Nos. 124 and 125. See also N. Lees, Journal of the Royal Asiatic Soc., New Series, vol. iii., p. 465. The contents of the work have been fully described in Morley's Descriptive Catalogue, pp. 52-56.

The Mir'ât-ul-'Âlam is reckoned a very useful work. The account of the first ten years of 'Âlamgîr's reign and the biographical portion are exceedingly valuable. It is divided into a Muqaddimah, seven Ârâyish, subdivided into several Numâyish and Numûd, one Afzâyish and a Khâtimah, as follows.—

TUHFAT-UL-KIRÂM.

A very neat and beautiful copy of the Tuhfat-ul-Kirâm, a general history from the beginning of the world to A.H. 1180 = A.D 1766, with a special history of Sind.

By Mîr 'Alî Shîr Qûni' of Tattah, مير علينير قانع تتوي. Beginning.—

Mîr 'Alî Shîr, the fourth son of Sayyid 'Izzat-Ullah, who died in A.H. 1161 = AD. 1748, belonged to a noble Sayyid family of Shîrâz. One of his ancestors, Sayyid Shukr-Ullah, came to Sind in A.H. 927 = A.D. 1520, and settled in Tattah, where 'Alî Shîr was born in A.H. 1140 = AD. 1727.

In the course of his narrative he says (fol. 232°) that he had two sons, one of whom, named Gulâm 'Alî, was born in A.H. 1181 = A.D. 1767, and the other, named Gulâm Walî Ullah, in A.H. 1183 = A.D. 1769.

'Alî Shîr at first adopted the poetical title of Mazhar, and subsequently changed it to Qâni'. He also wrote several other prose works, one of which, according to Rieu, p. 846, is called تاريخ عبّاسيه, and composed several poetical works, viz, قضا و قدر in A.H. 1157 = A.D. 1744, a poem entitled شمهٔ از قدرت حق in A.H. 1165 = A.D. 1752, the story of Kâmrûp and Kâmlata in A.H. 1169 = A.D. 1755, and a Dîwân in A.H. 1171 = A.D. 1758.

In the preface, the author, after speaking highly of the works by Mîr 'Abd Ullah Aṣîl, and the נכָה ועכן by Mîr 'Abd Ullah Aṣîl, and the נכָה ועכן by Mîr Jamâl-ud-Dîn 'Aṭâ Ullah, states that he began the composition of the present work in his fortieth year, A.H. 1180 = A.D. 1766, for which date, he says, the title of the work itself is a chronogram. According to two versified chronograms given by the author at the end, the work was completed in A H. 1181 = A.D. 1767, but, as mentioned above, the author records a later date, A.H. 1183 = A.D. 1769, when speaking of the birth of his sons.

Of the three volumes into which the work is divided, the third volume, which deals with the history of Sind, is of special interest. In the preface to this volume, the author, while mentioning his sources, states that in Ah. 613 = A.D. 1216, when 'Alî bin Ḥamīd bin Abī Bakr ul-Kûfî of Uchh visited Bhakar and Alwai, he made the acquaintance of Qâḍī Ismā'īl bin 'Alī bin Muḥammad bin Mûsâ bin Ṭâ'ī, and obtained from him an ancient record of the Aiab conquest of Sind, which the aforesaid 'Alī bin Ḥamīd translated into Persian. The author then mentions the histories of Mîi Ma'şûm Bhakarî and Mîr Muḥammad Ṭāhir Nisyânī, the Aigûn Nâmah, Taikhân Nâmah, and Beglar Nâmah (see Elliot, History of India, vol i, pp. 289 and 300).

A voluminous work on general history from the beginning to A.H. 1173 = A.D. 1759, written by Yûsuf 'Alî bin Ġulâm 'Alî Khân كان المالية على المالية المالية

Beginning:-

باعب تدوین این کلمات آنکه

According to the preface in the present copy the entire work is divided into a Muqaddimah, three volumes (عبلًا) and a Khâtimah, each volume is subdivided into several Raudahs or gardens, each Raudah into several Dauhahs or trees, and each Dauhah into several Guṣns or branches. The present copy contains a portion of Volume I and breaks off with the concluding portion of Dauhah II of the fourth Raudah.

An autograph copy by the author with a detailed description of the contents is noticed in Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat. No. 118.

In the preface the author states that he collected the materials for the work during the time of Muhammad 'Alî Wardî Khân, but that, owing to various obstacles, he could not carry out his plan until after the death of 'Alî Wardî Khân, which took place in a ii 1169 = a.d. 1755. In a.h. 1170 = a.d. 1756 he commenced the composition. He adds that he had no one to assist him in the work, and had to depend exclusively upon his own knowledge and labour. At one time, being discouraged, he put aside the work, of which only a very small portion had been written, but Mîr Muḥammad 'Alî happened to read it, and finding it interesting, encouraged the author to resume and finish it.

The author also wrote a history of the lives and administrations of 'Alî Wardî Khân Mahâbat Jang, and of his successor, Shujâ'-ud-Daulah; see Rieu, p. 312*.

There is a large lacuna after fol. 246. The MS. breaks off here and abruptly opens with the concluding portion of the third volume, dealing with the contemporary poets who were the author's friends. The rubrics bearing the names of the poets are wanting. At the end it is said that the author had a mind to continue the history of the Mughal sovereigns down to Aḥmad Shâh (deposed in A.H. 1167 = A.D. 1754), 'Âlamgîr II. (d. 1173 = A.D. 1759), and Shâh 'Âlam, to the eleventh year of his reign, A.H. 1184 = A.D. 1771 (the year in which the author finished the composition), but that, as he contracted a serious illness, he could not carry out his plan.

The third volume of the work is written entirely on the basis of Firishtah, and agrees with it in arrangement and in many other respects. See Rieu, p. 872, where a copy of the third volume is mentioned.

مرآت آفتاب نما

MIR'ÂT-I-ÂFTÂB NUMÂ.

A compendium of general history, biography and geography, from the beginning of the world to the 45th year of the reign of Shâh 'Âlam, A.H. 1217 = A.D. 1802.

Beginning .-

The author of this work, 'Abd-ur-Raḥmân, entitled Shâh Nawâz Khân, عبد الرحمن مخاطب بشاهنواز خان هاهمي نم النهاوي, who was a high official in the Court of Shâh 'Âlam, states in the preface that he had long been engaged in historical studies, and had thought of writing a history from the creation of the world to his own time, dealing with the accounts of the prophets, Khalîfs, Imâms, philosophers, physicians, 'Ulamâ, saints, poets, nobles, kings and wonders and curiosities of the world, but that on account of various obstacles and hindrances he could not carry out his plan, until in the reign of his royal patron, Shâh 'Âlam, he found himself in a position to undertake this work, which he completed in A.H. 1218 = A.D. 1803.

The title of the work, which forms a chronogram for the date of composition, viz., A.H. 1218, was chosen on account of its including the word 'Âftâb,' which was the poetical nom de plume of Shâh 'Âlam, to whom the work is dedicated.

It may be remarked here that the Mir'at-i-Âftab Numâ is only an abridgment of other universal histories of earlier date. The author gives very short notices of the various dynasties that ruled in the East. He very often dismisses an entire dynasty with a bare enumeration of its kings, while on many occasions he gives very scanty notices of only the most remarkable persons of a race. But the history of Shâh 'Âlam, the events of whose reign are recorded year by year is no doubt of some value, while the biographical portion, and the last part of the sixth Tajallî, treating of Asiatic music, are extremely interesting.

Other copies of the work are mentioned: Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, pp. 56-58; Rieu, p. 131<sup>b</sup>, Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat. No. 120<sup>b</sup>. See also Elliot, History of India, vol. viii., p. 332; Journal of the Asiatic Society of Bengal, vol. xxiii., part I., p. 233, No. 30.

The work is divided into a Muqaddimah, two Jalwahs, subdivided into several Tajallîs, and a Khâtimah, as follows:—

Muqaddimah. Advantages of studying history, fol. 4b.

Jalwah I. Subdivided into six Tajallîs .-

تاج القصص

TÂJ-UL-QISAS.

A copious work on the biographies and legends of the prophets from Adam to Muḥammad, chiefly based upon the Qurân, its commentaries and the Ḥadîs.

It seems to have been written shortly after the well-known work, Qiṣaṣ-ul-Anbiyâ, of Isḥâq bin Ibrâhîm bin Manṣūr bin Khalaf of Nishâpūr, who, according to Rieu, p. 143, was living at the end of the fifth century of the Hijrah.

Dr. Ethé, in his Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 343, wrongly asserts that the Qiṣaṣ-ul-Anbiyâ is "a mere abridgment" of the Taj-ul-Qiṣaṣ. In the present work we find that the author, while mentioning as his sources (c. A.H. 310 = A.D. 922) and جرير طبري (c. A.H. 314 = A.D. 926), frequently cites the work Qiṣaṣ-ul-Anbiyâ. So it is evident that the Qiṣaṣ-ul-Anbiyâ was written before the present work. The author frequently introduces his master in the form عصمة اللنبيا, and on fol. 228° mentions another work, عصمة اللنبيا, without the author's name. This I have not been able to trace. Ḥâj. Khal., vol. iv., p. 212, mentions two works of the same title. One by فضر الدين وازي, who died in A.H. 606 = A.D. 1209, and the other by المد ين الشيخ مصلح without any date.

Dr. Ethé notices three copies of the present work, one in the Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 342, and two in the Ind. Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 591 The learned doctor, in his Ind. Office Inb. Cat., while remarking that the work is by an "anonymous author," could make out only a part of the author's name (Ibn-i-Naṣr-ul-Bukharî) from a casual and defective note on the fly-leaf of the Bodl. Lib. copy, remarks .- "As to the author, his name does not occur in the book itself... We do not find this work mentioned anywhere, nor have we succeeded in finding a clue for a conjecture as to the time when it was composed." But on fol. 92b of the present copy the author, in the beginning of a detailed narrative of the life of Joseph, gives us the following particulars about himself. He styles himself Abû Nașr نصر البغاري, and states that his master, Abul Qâsim Maḥmûd bin Hasan ul-Jayhani, at the request of his pupils, wrote a work on the Quranic story of Joseph, which work, he, the pupil, rendered into انس Persian with suitable additions and alterations, entitling it .مجلس :and divided it into forty sections المريدين و روضة المحبين He further adds that he wrote the translation in Balkh, A.H. 475 = A.D. 1082. The following quotation will give an idea of the particulars given by the author .--

The work starts with a short Arabic preface, beginning thus:—

العمد لله الذي توحّد بالملكوت و تعزّر بالجبروت و هو العيّ

الذي — النه

This is followed by a Persian introduction, which begins thus:— میاس و متایش براستی و آفرین بتمامی مر خداوند جهان آفرین — النو

In the preface the author, after dealing at some length with the necessity of education and its advantages, gives short accounts of the creation of the earth, the ocean, the heaven and its bodies, paradise and hell.

There is no division whatever, and spaces for headings are left blank in many places.

The part dealing with the pre-Muhammadan prophets concludes on fol. 291°, after which begins the history of Muḥammad down to his death. After dealing with the miracles of Muhammad and other prophets, the author dismisses his immediate successors in a few lines and closes with a short account of Husayn's death.

For other copies see Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 342, and Ethé, Ind. Office Lib Cat., Nos 591 and 592.

This MS. is wormed in many places. Written in a clear minute Nasta'liq. Not dated, a fine, ancient copy.

مجمع الحسنات

MAJMA'-UL-HASANÂT.

· Biographies and legends of the prophets from Âdam to Muḥammad, and of the Khulafa-i-Râshidin or the first four Khalifs, by an anonymous author.

Beginning .—

العمد لله ربّ العالمين و العاقبة للمتقين و الصلوة علي سيدنا و رسوله الرحمة و شفيع الامة محمد و آله اجمعين - بلغنا عن محمد بن ابراهيم البخاري رحمه الله باسناد صحيح النح

On the fly-leaf at the beginning the title assigned to the work is الانبياء, but according to W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 522, it should bear the designation, مجمع الحسنات. Dr. Ethé, in his India Office Lib. Cat., No. 593, basing his assertion on the opening lines of the work, holds that it is founded mainly on the Ṣaḥiḥ (حالفاق, the 27th Book of which treats of the legends of prophets) of Muḥammad bin Ismā'il-ul-Bukhārî (d. A.H. 256 = A.D. 870); but as a matter of fact the entire work is based chiefly on the verses of the Qur'ân.

TARJUMAH-I-MAULÛD-UN-NABÎ.

A Persian translation of Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî's history of Muhammad.

Beginning:—

No proper title to the work is given anywhere, and there seems to be serious confusion regarding the author and the work. Towards the conclusion the translator twice calls it "Tarjumah-i-Maulûd-i-Muṣṭafâ," e.g. on fol. 355<sup>a</sup>, . . . و اين آخر ترجمهٔ كتاب مولود مصطفي صلوات , and again on fol. 355<sup>b</sup>, ينام مند كتاب ترجمهٔ مولود مصطفي صلوات ; while in the colophon it is called, "Kıtâb-ı-Maulûd-un-Nabî," كتاب مولود النبي "كتاب مولود النبي".

The work is mentioned, without the translator's name, in Rieu, iii., p. 1026, where it is wrongly styled تاريخ حسيني, and even الأخبار, which, however, is quite distinct from the present work. In Ethé, India Office Library Cat., No. 165, and in the colophon of the Bûhâr Library copy, it is called سير عفيفي; while two copies, without any title, are noticed in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., Nos. 543 and 544.

Again, Haj. Khal., vol. vi., p. 167, very curiously notes .--by Sa'id-ud, منتفى في سير مولود النبي المصطفى - مارسي للأمام , Dîn Muhammad bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî (d A.u. 758 = A.D. 1356), للأمام سعيد الدين محمد أن مسعود الكازروني لمتوقى سنه ١٥٧ رتب على and after enumerating all the divisions, which exactly agree with those in the present copy, remarks that it was rendered into Arabic by Kazarûni's son 'Afif-ud-Dîn, פינ אם פענה المعدث المسند عفيف الدان المعدث المسند عفيف الدان المعدث الدان المعدث الدان المعدث الدان المعدث الم mentions Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd Kâzarûnî's work, مطالع المصطفويه عيى a commentary on the Mashariq-ul-Anwar متارق الانوار النبوله of Radi-ud-Din Hasan bin Muhammad-uş-Sigânî, who died in а.н. 650 = A D. 1252. The same Ilâj. Khal. mentions 'Afîf-ud-Dîn in connection with three other works, viz., vol. i., p. 237, كازروني ; vol. ii, p 537, مرح بعاري, completed at Shinâz, Rabî L, A.H. 766 = A.D. 1364; شفاء ,and iv., p. 52 فرع منه في سهر ربيع الاول بمدينه سيراز which in the introduction of the present copy is said to be a work of Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî.

Brock, 11., p. 195, also mentions under Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî, al muntaqâ fi sirat an nabr al mustafâ (after which, wrongly following Hâj Khal, loc. et., he adds the word "persisch" instead of "arabisch") and his two other works, viz, maulûd an nabî and musalsalât. The last is included among the works of Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî, enumerated in the beginning of the copy.

Now in the preface the translator, referring to Sarid bin Masaudul-Kazaruni, remarks —

مولف كتاب عادم احاديث نبوبه ساگرد اغبار مصطفيه سعيد بن مسعود كازروني اسكنه الله بصبوحه العمان و افاض عليه سجال الرحمة و الرصوان

The words after کاررویی at once suggest that Sa'id bin Mas'ûd was not living at the time of the present translation. Moreover the translator throughout the work introduces Kâzarûni with the words روح الله

In the conclusion the translator, who gives his name as 'Afif bin Sa'id bin Mas ûd bin Muhammad bin 'Ali bin Ahmad bin 'Umar bin Ismâ'il Shaykh-ush-Shuyûkh Abî 'Ali Daqq'ıq, says that he finished the writing of the work at Shîrâz in A.H. 760 = A.D. 1358, that is to say two years after the death of Sa'îd Kâzarûnî.—

تمام شد كتاب ترجمهٔ مولود مصطفي صلوات الله و سلامه عليه و آله و صحبه اجمعين و لِله الحمد اولاً و آخراً و ظاهراً و باطناً در بقعه شيخ كبير ابي محمد بن عبد الله الخفيف قدس الله سره بدست مترجم ابن كتاب كمتربن بندگان خداي عفيف بن سعيد بن مسعود بن محمد بن علي بن احمد بن عمر بن اسمعيل شيخ الشيوخ ابي علي دقاق برد الله مضجعهم و اصلح شانه و غفر لهم — در روز پنجشنبه عاشورا مبارك سنه ستين و سبعمائة در شيراز . . .

In my opinion (i) Hâj. Khal. is right in asserting that 'Afif-ud-Dîn, the present translator, was the son of Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî, whose genealogy, as given in Ibn-i-Ḥajar 'Asqalani's (d. A.H. 852 = A.D. 1448) Durar-ul-Kâminah, vol. ii., fol. 522, exactly agrees with the genealogy given by the translator 'Afif at the end of the present work; (ii) Ḥâj. Khal. has very seriously confounded the works of the father and the son, and has thus thrown all the subsequent writers into error; (iii) the work is the Persian translation of Sa'îd bin Mas'ûd-ul-Kâzarûnî's history of Muḥammad, entitled by Block., ii., p. 195, Maulûd-un-Nabî, a copy of which is mentioned in the British Museum Cat., No. 920, p. 423, and the divisions of which, as described in the said catalogue, exactly correspond with those of the present work.

In the introduction the translator, 'Afif, after praising God, the Prophet and his companions, states that the author, Sa'îd bin Mas'ûdul-Kâzarûnî, after finishing the commentary on the Mashâriq-ul-Anwâr (loc. cit.) and the works Shifâ-uṣ-Ṣudûr (not mentioned by Brock.), the Musalsalât (not mentioned by Ḥâj. Khal.), and other works.—

thought of writing an authentic biography of the Prophet. With this view, after thoroughly studying the Qur'an and the books of traditions, he wrote the work (the original) in the hope of receiving a reward in the next world.

On fol 119<sup>b</sup> the translator narrates that the author, Sa'id Kâzarûnî, ever desired to behold the Prophet in a dream, and to hear some genuine Hadis from his lips, in order that he might deliver the same directly from the Prophet without any Isnâd or Catena. And this came about on Thursday night the 5th of Safar, A.H. 732 = A.D. 1331.

The work is divided into four Qisms and a Khâtimah --

DURJ-UD-DURAR.

A unique copy of a detailed history of Muhammad, written in A.H. 858 = AD. 1454, by Amîr Sayyid Aṣîl-ud-Dîn 'Abd Ullah bin 'Abd-ur-Raḥmân ul-Ḥusaynî ush-Shîrâzî, عبد الرحس العسيني الشيرازي.

Beginning .-

اللهم صل علي شعرة اصلها اصيل و فرعها نبيل و غارسها جبرئيل و حارسها رب جليل الن

The full title of the work as given in the preface is - عبد الله بن عبد The author, who in the preface calls himself belonged to , الرحمن الحسيني المشتهر بين كل لفط باصيل الواعظ Shîrâz, and was a pious man of vast learning, well versed in Tafsîr, Hadîs and Inshâ. During the time of Sultan Abû Sa'id he came to Herat, where he spent a great portion of his life. Khwand Amir, in his Habîb-us-Siyar, vol. iii., Juz 3, p. 335, speaks highly of the author's literary achievements, and states that besides delivering religious seemons once a week in the Masjid of Gauhar Shâd Âgâ, Aşîlud-Dîn, in every month of Rabî' I., used to read his Mîlâd-i-Nabî (history of Muhammad) which was attentively listened to, and highly appreciated, by large assemblies. According to Habib-us-Siyar (loc. cit.) the author wrote another work entitled رسالة مزارات شيراز. His brother's son Amîr Sayyid 'Aţâ Ullah-ul-Husaynî, the author of the well-known work Raudat-ul-Ahbâb, is mentioned later on (No. 496). Aşîl-ud-Dîn died on the 17th of Rabî' II., A.H. 883 = A.D. 1478. See also Hâj. Khal, vol. iii., p. 222, where the author's death is placed in A.H. 884. 'Alî Shîr Qâni' in the preface to his Tuhfat-ul-Kirâm speaks highly of Asil-ud-Din's Durj-ud-Durar.

In the preface the author states that he first wrote a history of Muḥammad entitled كتاب المجتبى في سيرة المصطفى, which he based on most reliable and authentic sources, and which was so highly appreciated that every year in Rabî' I. it was read in the assemblies of learned men, kings, ministers and nobles, but as the work, which he had divided into twenty-eight chapters (majlis), was an exhaustive one, he intended to make an abridgement of it so that it might be more conveniently read and more accessible to the public. This idea, the author says, he cherished for a long time, but on account of various cares and troubles consequent on his separation from home and relatives, he could not carry out his plan. Towards the end of A.H. 858 = AD. 1454, during the time of Sultan Abû Sa'îd's reign, when the author went to Heiat, some diafts of his extracts from the Multabâ were once read in one of the assemblies organised by Shad Mulk Begam, and met with instant applause even from the Begam herself, who is thus designated by the author —

بملازمت نواب كامياب حضرت مهد عليا و ستر عطمي . . . مستعدمة سلاطين زمان مربية خواقبن دوران . . . ساد ملك بيگم ابنه السلطان بن السلطان بن السلطان ناسر مناسبر العدل و الاحسان . . . الواصل الي جوار الرحمة الرحيم الرحم مغيب المملكة و الدنيا و الدين محمد سلطان ابن السلطان السعبد الحمبد المبرور الملتعي الي فراديس الفدس بامداد عنابه الملك الكسر غيات الدولة و الدنيا و الدبن امير راد جهانگير ابن السلطان الاعظم المغفور و الحاقان الاكرم المسكور صاحب فران اقاليم السلطنة و الديالة . . . قطب متور السلطنة و الدنيا و الدين امير تيمور كوركان غلد الله نعالي طلال عصمتها و معدلنها علي مفارف الانام . . . الن

Thus encouraged the author at once set himself to the task and wrote the present abridgement, dividing it into twelve sections (majhs). He dedicated it to Shâd Mulk Begam. He adds that in writing it he has made suitable alterations and valuable additions from authentic sources, and has inserted throughout verses mostly of his own composition. The author concludes each majhs with the praise of his patroness, Shâd Mulk Begam.

The author does not clearly mention the subjects treated in each majlis, nor are they indicated by any headings or rubics; but from a detailed table of contents attached in a different hand at the beginning of the MS. we can make the following extract.—

معارج النبوة

MA'ÂRIJ-UN-NUBUWWAT.

A detailed history of Mulammad.

The full title of the work given by Rieu, p. 149, is معارج النبوة ; but in the preface of the present copy, as well as in the following copy, the work is correctly styled معارج النبوة في معارج الفتوة .

Author: Musin bin Ḥâjî Muḥammad ul-Farâhî, بولانا معين بن محمد الفراهي محمد الفراهي

Beginning:

Maulana Mu'în-ud-Dîn ul-Farahî, better known as Mu'în-ul-Miskîn, was the son of Maulânâ Sharaf-ud-Dîn Hâjî Muhammad ul-Farâhî, a man of great learning in the time of Mirzâ Abul Qâsim Bâbur. Mu'în's brother, Maulânâ Nizâm-ud-Dîn Muhammad (d. A.H. 900 = A.D. 1494), also a learned man of considerable reputation, was the Qâdî of Herat for a long time, which post Mu'in held, after his brother's death, for one year. Mu'în is said to have been a man of encyclopædic knowledge, and as such he is very highly spoken of by the author of the Habîb-us-Siyar. He also composed poetry in which he adopted the poetical title of Mu'in, and he is said to have been an expert in writing swift hand. Mu'în was reverenced for his piety, and it is said that on Fridays, when he used to deliver religious lectures in the Jâmi' Masjid of Herat, large numbers of nobles and men of high rank listened spell-bound by his eloquence. He died in A.H. 907 = A.D. 1501, and was buried by his brother's side in the tomb of Khwajah 'Abd Ullah Ansarî. See Habîbus-Siyar, vol. iii., Juz 3, p. 338.

In the preface the author, after dwelling at length upon the praise of God and the Prophet, states that he had spent more than thirty years in the study of tradition, and had collected materials for two works which were not ready for publication, viz., a commentary on the Qur'ân called تفسير بعر الدرر, and a collection of forty traditions, الربعين, and a collection of forty traditions, المسمى بروصة الواعظين في احاديث سيد المرسلين. He further adds that he was very strongly urged by an eminent doctor of the Muhammadan law to write a history of Muhammad. He accordingly began the present work in Rabi' I., A.H. 891 = A.D. 1486 (but see Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 138, where it is said that, according to a note in Ouseley 364, in the Bodleian Library, a considerable portion of the work, corrected and revised by the author himself, already existed in A.H. 866 = A.D. 1461).

In the conclusion of the work Mu'in says that he had intended to write a second volume, giving an account of the first four Khalifs and the Imams, but was induced by some of his friends to complete the Baḥr-ud-Durar, for which he had collected sufficient materials.

For the present work see. Hâj. Khal., 1ii., pp. 20 and 513, v., pp. 12, 251 and 608; Rieu, i., p. 149; J. Aumer, p. 100, G. سير النبي

SIYAR-UN-NABÎ.

A detailed history of Muḥammad's life, translated, as stated by Dr. Ethé (India Office Lib. Cat., No. 136), from some Arabic original. The MS is defective at the beginning as well as at the end, and consequently the name of the author or the translator could not be traced.

The authorities or sources quoted in the course of the narrative are numerous; e.g. Muḥammad bin Sîrîn (d. A.H. 110 = A.D. 728); Bukhârî (d. A.H. 256 = A.D. 869); Bayhaqî (d. A.H. 458 = A.D. 1066); Ibn-i-'Asâkir (d. A.H. 571 = A.D. 1176); Sirâj-ul-'Uqûl by Muḥammad bin Muḥammad-ul-Barrî (d. A.H. 576 = A.D. 1180); 'Abd-ul-'Azîm Mundirî (d. A.H. 656 = A.D. 1258); Zâhidî (d. A.H. 658 = A.D. 1259); Yâfi'î (d. A.H. 768 = A.D. 1367); Damîrî (d. A.H. 808 = A.D. 1405); Majd-ud-Dîn Fîrûzâbâdî (d. A.H. 817 = A.D. 1414), and many others. Verses from Persian poets, viz. 'Aţţâr, Nizâmî, Sa'dî, Ḥâfiz and Jâmî (d. A.H. 898 = A.D. 1492) are quoted throughout.

The work is divided into forty-five Fasls and a Khâtimah. The first four Fasls are missing and the MS. abruptly opens thus in the middle of the fifth Fasl.—

MÂDARIJ-UN-NUBUWWAT.

A detailed history of Muḥammad. By 'Abd-ul-Ḥaqq bin Sayf-ud-Dîn ud-Dihlawî. Beginning:—

This well-known prolific Indian writer is not only admitted as an authority in traditions by all subsequent Muhammadan doctors, but is equally reckoned a saint of great prety and renown. 'Abd-ul-Ḥamîd Lâhûrî, in his Bâdshâh Nâmah, gives us to understand that 'Abd-ul-Ḥaqq was a descendant of one of Tîmûr's followers, who remained in Dihlî after the return of that conqueror, but the author himself, in his well-known work  $A\underline{kh}b$ âr-ul- $A\underline{kh}y$ âr, traces his descent from Agâ Muḥammad Turk, who came from  $Bu\underline{kh}$ ârâ to India during the reign of Sulţân 'Alâ-ud-Dîn  $\underline{Kh}$ alĵî, and received high honours from that king.

In a note, at the end of the copy of his commentary on the Mishkât (Rieu, p. 14°), the author calls himself:—

'Abd-ul-Ḥaqq's father, Shaykh Sayf-ud-Dîn (born A.H. 920 = A.D. 1514, and died A.H. 990 = A.D. 1582), a notable saint, was a disciple of Shaykh Amân Pânî Patî (d. A.H. 957 = A.D. 1550), and composed a Ṣūfic treatise entitled اثباد الاحدية, a commentary on the Lawâ'iḥ of Jâmî. Sayf-ud-Dîn also composed verses and poems, and wrote two Ṣūfic treatises entitled رسالة مكاشفات and الرصال.

In his Akhbâr-ul-Akhyâr the author gives a full account of his forefathers, and in the conclusion of the same work he furnishes us with a detailed account of his early career, which speaks of his extraordinary ardour for study and his thirst for knowledge. At the age of seventeen or eighteen years he was already well-versed in all the customary branches of Arabic literature, and shortly afterwards learnt the Qur'an by heart in a year and a few months. In Shawwal, A.H. 985 = A.D. 1577, he entered the Qâdirî order, and in AH. 996 = AD. 1587 went on a pilgrimage to Mecca, where he studied Hadîş under several eminent traditionists of the place. According to the authors of the Kalimât-uş-Şâdiqîn, the 'Amal-i-Şâlih and others, 'Abd-ul-Haqq is the author of more than 100 books. The author himself gives an account of the works composed by himself in a treatise noticed by Rieu, p 1011a; Or. 1696; see also Elliot's History of Ind., vol. vi., pp. 483-492. 'Abd-ul-Haqq also composed poetry in which he adopted the takhallus Haqqî. He died in A H. 1052 = A.D. 1642, and was buried in the Haud-i-Shamsî at Delhi in the tomb which he had himself built.

The work is divided into five sections called Qisms, and a Takınılah or conclusion.

An index of the contents is attached at the beginning of the MS. The work has been printed at Lucknow, A.H. 1283.

Written in ordinary Nasta'lîq within coloured ruled borders, with a double-page 'unwân and an illuminated head-piece at the beginning.

MADÎNAT-UL-'ILM.

A history of the prophet Muhammad, translated from the Arabic work روضة النبي of Shaykh Habîb Ullah Qannaujî.

Translator. بشيخ محمد بن شيخ پير محمد فاروقي بلگرامي. Shaykh Muhammad bin Shaykh Pir Muḥammad Fârûqî Balgıâmî.

The translator states in the preface that as the work of his spiritual guide Shaykh II with Ullah Qannauji Siddiqi was written in Arabic, it was not accessible to those who were ignorant of that language. He therefore, with a view to making it more useful, translated it into Persian, with some improvements and alterations. The following passages, with which the work begins, will give a clear idea of its nature and scope:—

العمد لله الجليل و الصلوة على حبيبه الجميل و اصحابه ذوي التفصيل و آله اولي التكميل — اما بعد مي گوبد خاكپاي طالبان گرامي شيخ محمد بن شيخ پير محمد عاروقي بلگرامي كه لسخه روضة النبي تاليف لطيف پير و مرشد حقيقي حضرت شيخ حبيب الله قنوجي صديقي قدس الله روحه و افاض علينا فتوحه سبب عبارت عربي بعزيزان طالبان كه از عربيت چندان آشنائي نميدارند و در مزرعه دل تخم آرزوي ادراك مضامين از عبارات عاليات آن ميكارند خالي از اشكالي نبود بنابر آن اين حقير پر تقصير اولاً عبارت اصل كتاب را از ماخلهاي آن بصحت رسانيد بعد از آن جمع اسباب ضروريه نموده باختصار و اقتصار تمام كه مقتضي اطالت كلام نگردد شرح حامل الاصل گردانيد و در بعض مواضع كه مناط گفتگوي و اعتراضات و شبهات اهل اهواء است

On fol. 2° the translator states that the روضة النبي of Habîb Ullah was composed in Ramadân, A.H. 1120 = A.D. 1708, and divided into a Muqaddimah, two Books and a Khâtımah, which order is maintained in the present translation. The contents of the two Books are thus summarized in the beginning.—

The Muqaddimah, treating of the miracles of Muhammad, begins on fol. 26.

فتوح ابن اعثم

FUTÛH-I-IBN-I-A'ṢAM.

An old and correct copy of the history of the immediate successors of Muḥammad and of the early conquests by Muslims, from the time of Muḥammad's death till that of Ḥasan, Ḥusayn and Muʿawiyah, and the accession of Yazîd, A.H. 60 = A.D. 679. It is translated, as stated in the preface, from the كتاب فتوح of Abû Muḥammad Aḥmad bin Aʿṣam ul-Kûfî, by Muḥammad bin Aḥmad ul-Mustaufî ul-Harawî محمد بن

Beginning:

الصدد لله الملك القديم المنان الكريم الرؤف الرحيم هو الاول و الآخر و الظاهر و الباطن و هو بكلّ شيّ عليم النّ

The Arabic original of the work has not been traced, nor is it mentioned by any of the Arabic historians. It is, however, copously quoted by Persian historians. In the Nigaristan of Qadî Almad Gaffarî and the Raudat-ul-Albab of 'Atâ Ullah, the author of the Arabic original is called (Abû Muḥammad) Almad bin A'ṣam Kûfî, while according to Ḥabîb-us-Siyar his name was Muḥammad bin 'Alî bin A'ṣam. In the Majâlis-ul-Mu'minîn of Nûr Ullah Shûstarî he is simply called Almad bin A'ṣam Kûfî. He is also mentioned by the author of the Taj-ul-Qiṣas, composed in A.H. 475 = A.D. 1082.

Hâj. Khal., vol. iv., mentions the author and the translator in two places, viz., pp. 380 and 385. In the first place, under the work, he very strangely says that Abû Muḥammad Aḥmad bin A'sam-ul-Kûfî died in A.H. 1003 = A.D. 1594, while in the second place he, in accordance with Habib-us-Siyar, calls the author محمد بن without giving any date.

According to Frahn, Indications bibliographiques, p. 16, Ibn-i-A'sam died about A.H. 314 = A D. 926 See also E. Blochet, p. 246.

In the preface the translator says that he spent his youth in the society of great and learned men, and thus acquired a great deal of literary and worldly experience. Having fallen a victim to a series of troubles and miseries he was thinking of passing his old age in pious seclusion, when he secured the patronage of an influential Wazîr, whom he designates only by several honorific epithets without mentioning his name.—

مويد الملك قوام الدولت و الدين تاج الاسلام و المسلمين

In AH. 596 = AD. 1199, when the Wazîr visited the Madrasah of Tâyâbâd, he sent for the translator and treated him with great kindness and favour. One night when, as usual, learned men were assembled in the presence of the Wazîr, an eminent scholar named Kamâl-ud-Dîn happened to read a passage from the Kitâb-i-Futûḥ of Khwâjah Aḥmad bin A'sam ul-Kûfî. The passage was received with the plaudits of the assembly, and it was decided that the entire work should be rendered accessible to l'ersian readers. The task of translation was then entrusted to Muḥammad Mustaufî, who, in spite of his old age, his cares and his exile, accomplished the task.

Dr. Ethé, in his Bodl. Lib. Cat. No. 124, notices a copy of the work, from which we learn that Muḥammad bin Aḥmad ul-Mustaufi died after finishing only a small portion of the work; viz., the greater part of Abû Baki's Khilafat, and was succeeded as translator by one Muḥammad bin Aḥmad bin Abû Bakr ul-Kâtib ul-Mâbarnâbâdî, who continued the translation and brought it to an end. The present copy and that in the Bûhâr Library (Calcutta) do not contain any such continuation.

It should also be noticed here that the beginning of the Bodl. Lib. copy and other quotations therefrom do not exactly agree with those of the present copy.

The chronicle begins with the election of Abû Bakr to the Khilâfat, fol. 2<sup>b</sup>, and the whole work is divided by the following rubics.—

مناقب مرتضوي

MANÂQIB-I-MURTADAWÎ.

The life and virtues of 'Alî bin Abû Ţâlib.

Author: امير محمد صالح الحيسني الترمذي المتخلص به كندفي, Amîr Muḥammad Ṣâliḥ ul-Ḥusaynî ut-Tırmidî, takhalluş Kashfi.

Beginning:

خداوندا عطا كن نشاء ذوق كه آغازم بنامت نامهٔ شوق

The author was a descendant of the celebrated saint and poet Shaykh Ni'mat Ullah Walî. His father, Mîr 'Abd Ullah Tirmidî (died, according to Mir'ât-ul-'Âlam, A. H. 1025 = A.D. 1616), a celebrated calligrapher, was a disciple of Shaykh Fay d Ullah Sahâranpûrî (died A.H. 1024 = A.D. 1615), had received the title of Mushkîn Qalam and the takhallus of Wasfi for Masnawîs and a Dîwân. Like his father, Mîr Ṣâliḥ was a good caligrapher and especially skilled in Nasta'lîq handwriting. He adopted the takhallus of Kashfî and held high posts under Shah Jahân, in whose reign he died in A.H. 1061 = A.D. 1650). His other work, اعجاز مصلفوي, a history of the prophet Muḥammad, the early Khalîfs and the Imâms, which he left incomplete, was taken up and finished a century later by Mîr 'Abd Ullah bin Mîr Hâshim Shâh-Ni'mat-Ullah ul-Husaynî, with the takhallus Wâşifî, and is noticed in Rieu, p. 154.

A* copy of the Manaqib-i-Murtadawî is mentioned in Morley's Descriptive Catalogue, p. 16.

As his authorities the author quotes .-

روضة الاحباب

RAUDAT-UL-AHBÂB.

Part of the history of Muḥammad, his family, companions, followers and successors, by 'Aṭâ Ullah bin Faḍl Ullah Jamâl-ul-Ḥusaynî, عطاء الله بن فضل الله جمال الصيني, who completed the whole work in A.H. 900 = A.D. 1494, and dedicated it to the celebrated Wazîr Mîr 'Alî Shîr.

The author 'Atâ Ullah bin Fadl Ullah Jamâl-ul-Husaynî was the nephew of Amîr Sayyid Aşîl-ud-Dîn 'Abd Ullah ul-Husaynî, a famous traditionist of his age, who came to Herat from his native country Shînaz at the request of Sultân Abû Sa'îd, and died there in A.H. 883 = A.D. 1478. Khwând Amîr, the author of the Habîb-us-Siyar, while speaking of 'Atâ Ullah in the present tense, says that like his uncle Aşîl-ud-Dîn, he enjoyed immense fame as a traditionist, and that on account of his piety he was highly respected by the kings and nobles of his time. 'Atâ Ullah was engaged for some years in delivering lectures in the Madrisah-i-Sultâniyah, while once a week he enlightened people by his preachings in the Masjid-i-Jâmi' of Herat. At the time of the composition of the Habîb-us-Siyar (A.H. 930 = A.D. 1523), 'Atâ Ullah was living in retirement. His son Amîr Nasîm ud-Dîn Muḥammad, better known as Mîrak Shâh, was also a good traditionist and a man of great piety, and, like his father, used to give lectures in the Madrisah i-Sulṭâniyah See Ḥabîb-us Siyar, vol. iii., Juz 3. p. 335. 'Aṭâ Ul! in died, according to Rieu, p. 1081, in A.H. 926 = A.D. 1520. See also Ethé, Ind. Office Lib. Cat., No. 145. Mîr 'Alî Shîr Qâni' in his تعفة الكرام, composed A.H. 1180 = A.D. 1766, mentions two other works by this Jamâl-ud-Dîn 'Atâ Ullah; viz. تعفة اللحياء, and speaks highly of the present work in the preface.

The work has been described by Hammer, Jahrbücher, vol. 71, Anz. Blatt, pp. 25–27; and Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, p. 15. See also Rieu, i., p. 147, and iii., p. 1081; G. Flugel, ii, pp. 368 and 369; Stewart's Catalogue, p. 21; Dorn, Des asiatische Museum, p. 348; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 131–133; Ethé, Ind. Office Lab. Cat., Nos. 145–157; Hâj. Khal., vol. iii., p. 495; S. Petersburg Catalogue, p. 298. A Turkish translation of the work was published in Constantinople, A.H. 1268; see Mélanges Asiatiques, vol. v., p. 470.

The full title of the work, as given in the preface, is روضة الاحباب, and the whole work is divided into three books called Maqsads. The present MS. contains the first Maqsad and a part of the second Maqsad.

Beginning:-

After devoting a great part of the preface to the praise of his patron Mîr 'Alî Shîr, at whose request the work was written, 'Aṭâ Ullah says that he did not begin the work until he got the permission of his uncle, the aforesaid Aṣîl-ud-Dîn, to whom, he says, he was indebted for all his acquirements.

Contents:-

Maqsad I., consisting of the following three chapters (Babs):—

1. Muḥammad's genealogy with an account of the Patriarchs and prophets, fol. 3<sup>b</sup>.—

 Account of Muhammad's birth and a history of his life, fol. 35<sup>b</sup>:—

باب دویم در ذکر ولادت ان سرور صلی الله علیه و سلم و بیان مکان ولادت و کیفیت آن و ذکر شمهٔ از غرایب که

در حين تولد وي بظهور آمدة — و ذكر بعضي از حوادت كه در شب ولادت آن حضرت واقع شدة و شرح نبذة از احوال و وقايع كه در مدت حيات آلعضرت صلي الله عليه و سلم رو نمودة —

This Bâb concludes with a Khâtimah which begins thus on fol. 3075 —

خاتمه در بیان کیفیت صلوات بر آن سرور و فضیلت ثواب آن ---

3. Supplementary notices, in eight sections (Faşls):—
 (1) Muḥammad's wives, fol. 310<sup>b</sup>:—

فصل اول در بيان عدد ازواج و سراري پيغمبر صلي الله عليه و آله و سلم و شرح حال هريك —

(2) His children, fol. 337<sup>a</sup>:—

فصل دوم در ذكر اولاد پيغمبر صلي الله عليه و اله و سلم

(3) His miracles, fol. 337<sup>a</sup>:—

فضل سوم در بیان فضایل آن سرور و تعداد معجزات

(4) His bodily features and moral qualities, fol. 351<sup>b</sup>:—

فصل چهارم در بيان اوصاف و شمايل سيد اواخر و اوايل صلى الله عليه و سلم —

(5) His prayers and devotion, fol. 355°:— فصل پنجم در بیان عبادت آن سرور

(6) His ways of eating and dressing and his social observances, fol. 363*:—

فصل ششم در طریقهٔ پوشیدن لباس و نوشیدن طعام و شراب و کیفیت سلوك آنعضرت در سفر و حضر و معاشرت بازواج و مجالست و مكالمه و مصاحبت وي با اصعاب —

(7) His prerogatives, fol. 376°.

فصل (is omitted here هفتم) در بیان مخصوصات پیغمبر صلی الله علیه و سلم ---

(8) His slaves, freedmen, nurses, governors, scribes, messengers, Muaddins, poets and orators, fol. 379<sup>h</sup>.—

فصل (is omitted here هشتم) در ذكر خدام و موالي و مواضع و عمال و كتاب و رسولان و موذنان و شعرا و حارسان پيغمبر صلي الله عليه و سلم —

According to the author's statement, found in Rieu's copy, Or 146, p. 147, the first Maqsad was completed on the 11th of Dul Hijjah, A.H. 888 = A.D. 1483.

Maqsad II., beginning on fol. 386b:-

لك الحمد يا مسبب الاسباب و لك الشكر يا مفتح الابواب علي التوفيق للشروع تاليف الدفتر الثاني من كتاب روضة الاحباب

According to the preface in Maqsad I., it is subdivided into two Babs, viz .—

but this copy contains only the first Bab dealing with the history of the companions with their genealogies, as follows.—

Introduction, on the companions in general, fol. 388<sup>a</sup>:—

بيان عدالت و فضايل صعابه علي سبيل العوام رضي الله عنهم

Abû Bakr, fol. 391b; 'Umar, fol. 412a, with full account of the conquests in his time; 'Uṣmân, fol. 480a. It concludes with the account of 'Uṣmân's death, a.h. 35 = a d. 655, after which the history of 'Alî, which is treated here as a separate piece and begins with an illuminated headpiece, opens thus on fol. 524b:—

عونك يا لطيف — كلام در بيعت كافه انام با امير المؤمنين علي ابن ابي طالب عليه السلام بر امر خلافت و حكومت خواص و عوام —

The history of 'Alî is incomplete, closing with the account of the Khutbah delivered by him at Başıah after the battle of Jamal, مرب جما, A.H. 36 = A.D. 656.—

Corresponding to fol. 1594 of the following copy.

The contents of the present copy exactly agree with the one mentioned in Rieu, Add. 7638, p. 148.

Dr. Ethé, has very curiously confounded the second Maqsad with the third, most probably on account of 'Ali's history being treated as a fresh piece. It should be remembered that 'Alî belongs to the group of Aṣḥāb, and can by no means come under the heading of Tābi'în or Tabi-I-Tābi'în, who are treated by the author exclusively in the third Maqsad. What I presume to be the case is that Dr. Ethé's copy No 157, which he says is the complete copy of the third Maqsad, contains only the first of the two Bābs of the second Maqsad. The second Bāb of the second Maqsad and the whole of the third Maqsad do not seem to be extant.

A very valuable copy of the Raudat-ul-Albâb, dated A.H. 954 and written by Nasîm-ud-Dîn Muḥammad bin Jamāl-ud-Dîn Ḥusaynî, better known as Mîrak Shâh, who in my opinion is no other than the above named son of the present author, is noticed in Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat, No. 145.

The present copy is written in a beautiful Nasta'lîq, within gold ruled borders, with an illuminated headpiece and a double-page 'unwân in the beginning.

Not dated, apparently 16th century.

'Alî, fol. 122b.

The contents in this copy, covering foll. 122<sup>b</sup>-129<sup>b</sup>, and dealing with the accounts of 'Ali's birth, his noble habits and supernatural gifts, his wives and children, his sayings and bodily features, are wanting in the preceding copy. The history proper of 'Alî, with which the second Maqsad in the preceding copy begins, follows here on fol. 129<sup>b</sup>, and the entire portion of 'Ali's account in the above copy, occupies here foll. 129<sup>b</sup>-159<sup>a</sup>. After dealing with 'Ali's death (fol. 213') the author, with some elaboration, repeats the account of 'Ali's wives and children, and brings his narrative to a close with some traditions relating to this Khalifah.

After 'Alî, who represents the first Imam, follow the other eleven:-

(1) Ḥasan, fol. 218<sup>a</sup>; (2) Ḥusayn, fol. 225<sup>a</sup>; (3) 'Alî Zayn-ul-'Âbidîn, fol. 289<sup>b</sup>; (4) Muḥammad Bâqir, fol. 314<sup>a</sup>; (5) Ja'far Ṣâdiq, fol. 315<sup>a</sup>; (6) Musâ al-Kâzim, fol. 318<sup>a</sup>; (7) 'Alî Ridâ, fol. 319<sup>b</sup>; (8) Muḥammad Taqî, fol. 324<sup>a</sup>; (9) 'Alî Naqî, fol. 326<sup>a</sup>; (10) Abi'l Ḥasan Muḥammad ibn 'Alî Naqî, fol. 328<sup>a</sup>; (11) Muḥammad Mahdî, fol. 329<sup>a</sup>.

The above is followed by short notices, in alphabetical order, of Muḥammad's eminent companions, beginning with Ḥamzah ibn 'Abd-ul-Muttalib (fol. 336b) and ending with Yaman bin Jabir.

Written in ordinary Nasta'liq.

Not dated, apparently 18th century.

Maulânâ Kamâl-ud-Dîn Ḥusayn bin 'Alî-ul-Wâ'iz-ul-Kâshifî, مولاناً, the author of the well-known work Anwâr-i-Suhaylî (composed before A.H. 907 = A.D. 1501), and of several other works, e.g. Mawâhib 'Aliyyah (A.H. 899 = A.D. 1493), Jawâhir-ul-Tafsîr (A.H. 900 = A.D. 1494), Makhzan-ul-Inshâ (A.H. 907 = A.D. 1494), Akhlâq-i-Muḥsinî (A.H. 910 = A.D. 1504), Futuwat Nâmah, etc., was a native of Sabzwâr and lived at Herat during the time of Abu'l 'Gâzî Sulţân Ḥusayn Bâyqarâ (A.H. 873-911 = A.D. 1468-1505). He was an accomplished scholar, and is said to have been well versed in astronomy. He was also an eloquent preacher, and every Friday delivered religious lectures in the Jâmi' Masjid of Herat. Like other men of letters, the author enjoyed the warm favour of Amîr 'Alî Shîr Nawâ'î, who, as we know, was a great patron of learning and himself a good scholar and a poet. He died at Herat, A.H. 910 = A.D. 1504. See Ḥabîb-us-Siyar, vol. iii., Juz 3, p. 341; S. de Sacy, Calila et Dimna, préface, p. 42;

Jourdain, Biogr. Univ., xx., p. 435; Hammer, Schöne Redekünste Persiens, p. 275.

The statement that the author wrote the work at the desire of an illustrious prince, Sayyid Mirzâ, found in the preface of Rieu's copy (Rieu, p. 152), is not found here.

The work is divided into the following ten chapters (Bâbs) and a Khâtimah (conclusion):—

1. On the trials of some of the prophets, fol. 3a.

باب اول در ابتلاي بعضي از انبيا علي نبينا عليهم الصلوة و السلام

2. Persecution of Muḥammad by the Qurayshites and martyrdom of Ḥamzah and Ja'far Ḥayyar, fol. 40°.

باب دوم در جفای قریش و سایر کفار با سید ابرار علیه صلوات ملك الجبار و شهادت امير حمزه و جعفر طيار

3. On the death of Muhammad, fol. 56b.

باب سيم در وفات حضرت سيد المرسلين عليه افضل صلواة المصلين و علي عترته و اسوته اجمعين

4. Life of Fâțimah, fol. 67ª.

باب جهارم در بعضي از احوال فاطمه از وقت ولادت تا وقت

5. Life of 'Alî, fol. 79b.

باب پنجم در طرفي از اخبار مرتضي علي از زمان ولادت تا زمان شهادت

6. Life of Hasan, fol. 98b.

باب ششم در فضايل حسن و بعضي از احوال وي از ولادي و شهادي

7. Life of Husayn, fol. 112.

باب هفتم در مناقب امام حسين و ولادت وي و بعضي از احوالش بعد از وفات برادرش

8. Martyrdom of Muslim bin 'Aqîl and the slaying of some of his c. ildren, fol. 125°.

9. Husayn's arrival at Karbalâ and his encounter with the enemies; martyrdom of his children, relatives and others.

10. This last chapter is divided into two sections (فصل); the first relating to the fate of the Ahl-i-Bayt ("Family") after the battle of Karbalâ, fol. 227<sup>b</sup>.

The second deals with the punishment of the murderers of Ḥusayn, fol. 255<sup>b</sup>.

The Khâtimah, fol. 260<sup>a</sup>, deals with a genealogical account of the descendants of Hasan and Hasayn, with meagre notices on the Imâms.

جلاء العيون

JALÂ-UL-'UYÛN.

A history of the prophet Muḥammad, his daughter and the twelve Imâms. By Bâqir Majlisî.

Beginning .-

Shaykh-ul-Islâm Mullâ Muḥammad Bâqir Majlisî ul-Isfahânî, شيخ الاسلام مُلّا محمد باقر مجلسي الاصفهاني, was the youngest son of the celebrated Mullâ Muhammad Taqî Majlisî ul-Isfahânî.

According to Dr. Rieu, p. 20; Dr. Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 2668, and some other biographers, Bâqir was born in a h. 1038 = A.D. 1628. But the author's contemporary biographer, the author of the Shudûr-ul-'Iqyân, vol. ii., fol. 56° (MS. copy in the Bûhâr Library, Calcutta), who gives a detailed account of Bâqir's life and his works, remarks that the author, in a marginal note on his Bihâr-ul-Anwâr, himself says that some of his friends expressed the date of his birth in the words جامع کتاب بیار الانوار, which are equivalent to A.H. 1037 = A.D. 1627.

و قال قدس سرّة في حاشيته علي كتاب بهار الانوار عند ذكر هذه التسمية و من الغرايب انه وافق تاريخ ولادتي عدد جامع كتاب بهار الانوار

His father, who was a great Shî'ah divine and held before him the office of the Shaykh-ul-Islâm of Iṣfahân, died there in A.H. 1070 = A.D. 1659. His grandfather, Mullâ Maqṣūd 'Alî, used the surname of Majlisî for his takhallus, and after him it was adopted by the descendants of his family, which became known as the "Majlisî Family of Iṣfahân." Bâqir was brought up and educated under the direct supervision of his learned father, and wrote numerous works on the Shî'ah doctrine. His grandson, Mullâ Aḥmad bin Muḥammad 'Alî ul-Bahbahânî, in his Mir'ât-ul-Aḥwâl, fol. 29a, enumerates forty-nine l'ersian and nine Arabio works of this most prolific Shî'ah writer. He was a most zealous apostle of the Shî'ah creed, and the chief promoter of that faith. The same Bahbahânî remarks that Maulânâ Shâh 'Abd-ul-'Azîz Dihlawî (d. а.н. 1239 = а.р. 1824), in his work entitled تعشرية, in which he refutes the Shî'ah faith, remarks that the Shî'ah religion may be called the religion of Bâqir Majlisî, because he was the man who lent splendour to it, and that before him it was not so popular.

اگر دین شیعه را دین اخوند باقر مجلسی بگویند رواست — زیراکه این مذهب را او روئق داده است و سابق برین آنفدر عظمی نداشت —

Bâqir died at Iṣfahân, according to some, in л.н. 1110 = д.п. 1698; but the author of the Shudûr-ul-'Iqyân, mentioned above, places the author's death in the year д.н. 1111, for which he gives the chronogram ביני.

A detailed account of the author will also be found in the Raudât-ul-Jannât, p. 118. See also Rieu, p. 154; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 140; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 2668; Ouseley's Catalogue, No. 373; Biblioth. Sprenger, No. 164, etc. The work was printed in Tihrân, A.H. 1240 and 1266.

The most prominent among the Persian works of this author, besides (see below), تذكرة الايمه and the حيات القلوب the, the جلاء العيون are عين العياة (a detailed description of the work will be found in E. G. Browne, Cambridge Cat., pp. 64-69; extracts in W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 47, No. d, and p. 75, No. 6; see also Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 2668; printed at Ṭihrân, A.H. 1240); حلية المتقيري (Rieu, p. 20, and Supplt., p. 110; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 313 and 314; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 2669; printed at Tihrân, A.H. 1248); an extract from the larger Arabic work of the same) مقباس المصابيح author, بعار الانوار, which was edited in single volumes at Tihrân, 1270-1283, see Rieu, pp. 20 and 21); زاد البعاد (based on the same بعار الانوار, see Rieu, p. 21; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 257 and p. 148, No. 2; edited, Tihrân, A.H. 1244); زائدة زاد المعاد (an extract from the preceding work, see Rieu, Supplt., p. 6); حقّ اليقيد (Rieu, p. 33; مناسك حجّ (Rieu, p. 857); جبر و تفويض (Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 1794); رمالة لكاح (W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 261); تقويم و اختيارات also called رسالة اختيارات و اختيارات (W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 334 and p. 74, No. 2); كتاب سوال و جواب (ea.ted at Tihrân, A.H. 1247), etc.

In the preface to the present work it is stated that the author had written two works on the same subject, one entitled Bihâr-ul-Anwâr, completed in several volumes, and the other, a shorter one, colled Hayât-ul-Qulûb. The first, being written in Arabic, was not accessible to all, while the second, on account of its conciseness, was not in extensive use. He therefore began to write the present work, which he completed, as stated at the end, in Muharram, A.H. 1089 = A.D. 1678.

The work is divided into a Muqaddimah, or introduction, and fourteen Bâbs (chapters), most of which are subdivided into several Fasls (sections).

حيات القلوب

HAYÂT-UL-QULÛB.

A history of the prophets from the creation of Âdam to the death of Muḥammad, and of the twelve Imâms.

By Mulla Muhammad Baqir Majlisi. (See the preceding No.)

The Ḥayât-ul-Qulûb, which is the fourth in the list of the author's Persian works enumerated in the Mir'ât-ul-Aḥwâl, is an extract of the author's Arabic work Biḥâr-ul-Anwar. The author states in the preface that as the Biḥâr-ul-Anwâr was an exhaustive work, witten in Arabic, some of his friends suggested his writing a Persian translation, so that it might be more accessible. Hence the present Persian extract.

The work was edited at Tabrîz, A.H. 1241. Translated into English by J. L. Merrick, Boston, 1850.

The author of the Iktifâ-ul-Qunu', p. 99, makes the strange remark that the Ḥayât-ul-Qulûb is an Arabic translation of some Persian work. Beginning:—

The author of the Mir'ât-ul-Aḥwâl says that the entire work was written in three volumes, and that the last volume was left incomplete.

The present copy comprises the first volume of the work dealing with the history of the prophets before Muḥammad and the pre Muḥammadan kings. It ends with an account of Hârût and Mârût. In the conclusion the author says that he will deal with the story of the angels in his Rûḥ-ul-Arwâḥ. The date of composition given at the end is the middle of Shawwâl, A.H. 1087 = A.D. 1676.

According to the colophon this copy was written in Sha'ban, A.H 1090, that is, only three years after the date of composition.

رياض الشهاده

RIYÂD-USH-SHAHÂDAH.

A detailed history of Muhammad and the Imâms. The full title of the work as given in the beginning is:—

رياض الشهادة في ذكر مصائب السادة

Author: Muḥammad Ḥasan bin ul-Ḥâj Ma'ṣûm ul-Qazwînî, محمد حسن بن العاج معصوم القزويني.

-: بسم الله الرّحمٰن الرحيم Beginning after

(1) History of Muḥammad, (2) History of Fâțimah, (3) History of 'Alî, and (4) History of Ḥasan.

In the preface to the second volume the author says that he divided it into twenty-six sections which he enumerates here, and which, he says, together with the four in the first volume complete the thirty sections; but from a perusal of the work it will be seen that the second volume comprises (as in the present MS.) only eighteen sections, while the remaining eight sections are separately given in the third volume which begins thus:—

الحمد لله رب العالمين . . . اما بعد ابن مجلد سيم از كتاب رياض الشهادة . . . تاليف خادم طلبه علوم محمد حسن بن المرحوم الحاج المعصوم القزويني . . . و درو هشت مجلس است

In the preface to the first volume the author, after showering praises upon the reigning king Fath 'Alî Shâh Qâjâr of Persia (A.H. 1211-1250 = A.D. 1797-1834), a great patron of learning and himself a good scholar, dedicates the work to his third son Husayn 'Alî Mirzâ, who, as we know, was entrusted with the government of Shîrâz, and played an important part in the history of Persia. In the conclusion the author says that he completed the work on Thursday, the 12th of Sha'bân, A.H. 1227 = A.D. 1812.

The present MS. contains only the first eighteen sections; that is, from the fifth to the twenty-second majlis, of the second volume, as follows:—

- (5) fol. 3<sup>a</sup>. History of Husayn from the time of Mu'âwiyah's death to his departure from Medina for Mecca.
- (6) fol. 22<sup>b</sup>. History of Husayn from the time of his arrival at Mecca to his start for 'Irâq; martyrdom of his cousin Muslim bin 'Aqîl and of his other companions.
- (7) fol. 39b. Martyrdom of Muslim's children.
- (8) fol. 52*. Events that took place on Husayn's way to 'Irâq till the 9th day of Muḥarram.
- (9) fol. 71b. Events that took place on the 9th till the morning of the 10th of Muhairam.
- (10) fol 90<sup>a</sup>. Arrival of Hurr bin Yazid with his son and brother; their penitence and martyrdom.
- (11) fol. 103b. Martyrdom of Wahb bin 'Abd Ullah Kalbî and others.
- (12) fol. 118b. Martyrdom of the other companions of Husayn and of his cousins and other relatives.
- (13) fol. 1356. Martyrdom of Qâsim bin Hasan.
- (14) fol. 1516. Martyrdom of 'Abbas and other brothers of Husayn.
- (15) fol. 1676. Martyrdom of 'Alî Akbar.
- (16) fol. 184b. Martyrdom of Husayn.
- (17) fol. 207<sup>b</sup>. Events that took place after Ḥusayn's martyrdom; plundering of his camp and capture of his wives and children.
- (18) fol. 224. Transfer of the heads of the martyrs and the captives to Kûfah.
- (19) fol. 240b. Their journey to Kûfah.
- (20) fol. 253<sup>a</sup>. Events that took place during their stay in Syria.
- (21) fol. 267b. Their return through Karbalâ to Madînah.
- (22) fol. 286*. This section dealing with the account of Husayn's avengers is divided into the following four Faşls:—
  - (i) fol. 288b. Genealogy of Mukhtår.

- (ii) fol. 291a. The rising of Sulayman with his companions and their martyrdom.
- (iii) fol. 295. The rising of Mukhtar.
- (iv) Martyrdom of Ibn-i-Ziyâd.

The last eight sections, 23rd to 30th, which are enumerated at the beginning of this volume, are wanting in this copy. These sections dealing with the merits and sufferings of the later Imâms from Zaynul-'Âbidîn to al-Mahdî are separately given in the third volume of the printed edition.

A similar copy of the second volume of this work is mentioned in Rieu, p. 155.

Written in a clear minute Naskh within gold-ruled and coloured borders, with an illuminated but faded frontispiece at the beginning.

Not dated, apparently 12th century A.H.

Several notes and seals on the MS. say that this copy formerly belonged to the Library of Nawwâb Sayyid Vilâyat 'Alî Khân of Patna.

مختار نامه

MUKHTÂR NÂMAH.

A very rare, beautiful and correct copy of the history and exploits of the chivalrous Mukhtâr bin Abî 'Ubayd (called Abî 'Ubaydah, عبيد الله الله إلى عبيد بن مسعود الثقفي, the avenger of the third Imâm Ḥusayn bin 'Alî.

Beginning of the preface:-

The preface is introduced by the following Qit'ah, the last line of which expresses the date of transcription of the copy, A.H. 946 = A.D. 1539.

ىد درين دولت عالي مرقوم باد اين دولت عالي باقي بهر تاريخ خرد مي گويد دولت شاه موالي باقي

In the preface the author, who designates himself موالي ابو ذر سلمان بي احمد شريف فالي, says that he had long cherished the idea of writing a work in Persian, treating of the war-like deeds of Mukhtâr, until one day he received from one of his friends a book on that very subject written in Arabic by some Shî'ah. So he rendered it into Persian for the benefit of those who are ignorant of the Arabic language. In the beginning of the work the author quotes as his authority الشعلي, whose full name according to الساب سمعاني (Lib. copy, fol. 169<sup>a</sup>) is Abû 'Umar 'Âmir bin Sharâjil ush-Sha'bî, الشعبي , and who, according to the same authority, died in A.H. 109 = A.D. 728.

The title of the work is not given in the text, but in the colophon as well as on the fly-leaf at the beginning it is called مفتار نامه.

The work is not divided into chapters or sections, but the following headings will give an idea of its contents:—

A history of Mukhtar by an anonymous author is noticed in Rieu, i., p. 156. A Mukhtar Namah by Mulla Muḥammad Ḥusayn Na'imî, ما معلى معمد المالية, has been printed in Persia, A.H. 1281; see Dorn, Catalogue des ouvrages publiés à Constantinople, etc., No. 106; see also Biblioth. Sprenger, No. 161.

This is a beautiful copy, written in clear Nasta'liq by the celebrated calligraphist Murshid-ul-Kâtib of Shîrâz, مرشد الكاتب, within gold and coloured ruled borders with a sumptuously illuminated double-page 'Unwân. The headings are written in gold and blue throughout.

The colophon runs thus .-

تم المضار نامه بعون الله و حسن توفيقه و صلي الله علي نبينا محمد و آله و احبابه في تاريخ شهر شعبان المعظم سنه سبع و اربعين و تسعماية الهجريه علي يد اقل العباد مرشد الكاتب الشيرازي غفر ذنوبه و سنر عيوبه برحمتك يا ارحم الراحمين —

غریق رحمت یزدان کسی باد که کاتب را بالصدی کند یاد

The date of transcription given in the above colophon is A.H. 947, but the last line of the introductory Qit'ah forms a chronogram for the year 946.

On the fly-leaves at both ends are found several seels of the nobles of the courts of 'Âlamgîr and Muḥammad Shâh. One at the beginning, dated A.H. 1141, faintly reads, عبد الكريم فدوي معمد شاه بادشاه Another on the same leaf, dated A.H. 1050, bears the following inscription:—

خاك ره آل محمد سعيد

A seal, dated A.H. 1095 and followed by the note عرض دیده عرض دیده عرض دیده الثانی منه ۲۹ عبد خانه: , reads thus on the last folio: عبد خانه عبد خانه . Two seals found at the beginning of the copy are illegible. Several 'Ard-Didahs, the dates of which range from A.H. 969 to 1001 are also found at the end. A note at the beginning of the copy records the price of the MS. "Thirty-five rupees قیمت سی بنجروپیه".

The copy is in a damaged condition.

LUBB-I-'AYN-IL-BUKÂ.

A history of the Prophet Muhammad and the Imams, containing a legendary account, in prose and verse, of the sufferings and death of Muhammad, the Imams and the martyrs of Karbalâ, with a narration of the incidents connected with the battle. The work is evidently intended for recitation in Muharram on the occasion of the annual commemoration of the martyrs of Karbalâ.

Beginning —

The author, who calls himself in the preface Muhammad Taqî ibn Ahmad ul-Bardjardî, معمد تقي الى احمد البردجودي, states that in а.н. 999 = а.р. 1591 he wrote a very comprehensive work on the merits and sufferings of the martyrs of Karbalâ which he called عين البكا. The work was received so favourably by the public, that some of his friends requested him to make a selection that might be suitable for recitation at the annual commemoration in Muharram. The author therefore made these extracts from his larger work, which consisted of twenty-two chapters, calling them البكا, or "the quintessence of the 'Ayn-il-Bukâ."

ĠÂYAT-UL-HIMMAH.

A history of the Prophet Muhammad, the early  $\underline{\mathsf{Kh}}$ alifs and the Imâms.

Beginning .-

سپاس تقدس اساس جناب كبريا، واجبي را كه ممكنات را از بيابان عدم بشهرستان وجود آورده مسلمانان را بسرف اسلام مشرف ساخت —

The full title given to the work by the author is-but in an endorsement on the fly-leaf at the beginning it is all o called—

The author, who in the beginning of the work calls himself Muḥammad 'Alim Yaḥyâ'î Afḍalî Ilahâbâdî, معمد عليم يعيائي, was the son of Shaykh Muḥammad Mūsâ, افضلي الله آبادي. He gives a long genealogy on fol. 143<sup>a</sup>, where he traces his descent from 'Abd Ullah bin 'Abbâs, the uncle of the Prophet Muḥammad. In the preface he gives us to understand that in A.H. 1206 = A.D. 1792 he wrote this work for one of his relatives, Shaykh Ġulâm Ġaus, basing his account on the following standard authorities, viz.:—

He also refers to several works of his elder relatives, such as the عامن العقاد في شان الصحابة و اهل بيت الامجاد of his grandfather, Shaykh Muḥammad Yaḥyâ, better known as Khûb Ullah Ilahâbâdî; the درة التحقيق في نصرة الصديق of Ḥâjî Shâh Muḥammad Fâkhir, the second son of the aforesaid Shaykh and the uncle and teacher of the present author; the works of Muḥammad Nāṣir Afḍalî, also his uncle and teacher, and the youngest ron of the Shaykh.

He then proceeds to say that he had made a fair copy of only a few pages of his composition when he was suddenly attacked by a high fever attended by a severe shiveling. He was confined to his bed for more than two months. Afterwards when he intended to resume the work, to his intense mortification he could not find the draft in his bookcase. He thought of making a new draft, but a fresh attack of the fever prevented him. In the meantime, however, his son, Najaf 'Alî, alias Muḥammad A'lâ, succeeded in finding the manuscipt. Thereupon the author set to work, and after a careful revision of the draft produced the present work in A.H. 1209 = AD. 1795. It is not divided into any chapters or sections, but the contents may be described as follows.—

Muḥammad: his genealogy, on fol. 2b; his features and appearance (حلية مبارك), fol. 4a; persons who resembled Muḥammad in features, fol. 10b; his wives, fol. 11a; his children, fol. 17b.

Abû Bakr, on fol. 22ª.

'Umar, on fol. 36b.

'Usmân, on fol. 54'.

'Alî, on fol. 65a.

Hasan bin 'Alî and the other Imâms, on fol. 82°.

Genealogy of the author, on fol. 143a.

Foll. 145'-156'. A treatise of his, entitled البصارة في اعاديب المنارة البصارة في اعاديب , explaining the real posture assumed by the Prophet in the تشهد, and the mode of placing his fingers on the knees and of his lifting the forefinger in the تشهد. In support of his statements he quotes many Hadîş narrated by several reliable authorities.

The treatise is defective towards the end, and breaks off with the following words:—

پس در معنی سی و دو صعابی و صعابه روایت کرده --

In dealing with the history of the Prophet, the Khalifs and the Imâms, he generally cites the authorities for his statements. It is interesting to note that he is very careful to give the etymologies of most of the proper names, particularly of the ancestors of the Prophet, for instance —

عبد المطلب بصيغهٔ اسم عاعل از اطلاب بر وزن افتعال بمعني طلب بن هامنم بن عبد مناف بفتح ميم و تخفيف نون ابن قصي بضم قاف و فتح صاد مهمله و تشدید تعتانیه . . . احمد بن حسبل رضى الله عنه مرمود جنانكه در متم الباري است كه از شافعي رحمة الله عليه سنيدم كه نام عبد المطلب سيبه است و نام هاسم عمر و نام مناف مغيرة و نام قصى زيد انتهى - و بعضى گفته اند که نام عبد المطلب عامر بود وجه تسمیه او به شیبه آنست که گیسوی او سپید بود و چون عم او مطلب او را ردیف خود ساخته بمکه آورد در جواب کسی که میپرسید که این کیست بجهت رنائت الله او اظهار برادر زادگی موجب عار دانسته میگفت عبد من است بنابران بعبد المطلب اشتهار یافت - پدرس عمر را هاشم برای آن گوبند که در ایام قعط ثربد یعنی اشکنبه (اشکنه) که طعام معروف است هشم میکرد یعنی شکستی و بقوم خود دادی و مغیره که نام عبد مناب است بصیعهٔ اسم فاعل از اغاره بغین معجمه است و بعضی میم او را برای انباع عین مکسور می گردانند و زید را که پدر عبد مناف است برای آن قصى گويند كه با مادر خود فاطمه بنت سعد از مكه رفت و باخوان خود از قبیله کلب در بایه (بادیه probably) نشو و نما یافت و از مكه بعيد افتاد و قصا بر وزن عصا بمعني بعد و دوريست - Fol. 153° contains a prayer of five lines written by the author's own hand:—

The Kashf-ul-Hujub, fol. 124°, mentions the author (died in A.H. 692 = A.D. 1293), but does not mention the present translation, though in an endorsement on the fly-leaf of this copy the names of the translator and of his work are written thus:—

The Kashf-ul-Hujub while praising the Arabic original remarks that it was appreciated even by "the enemies" (i.e. Sunnis), such as فوات , who, he says, praises the work in his فوات , and others. The Arabic original, a very correct and valuable copy of which is preserved in this library, is divided into two parts. the first part treating of the history of the Prophet Muḥammad and 'Alî, and the second dealing with the history of Fâţimah and the Imâms. The present copy, which contains the translation of the second part only, is defective at the beginning and opens abruptly, thus:-

The author, who was born in Shîrâz, and whom Khwand Amîr calls Maulânâ Shihâb-ud-Dîn 'Abd Ullah Shîrâzî, عبد الله شيرازي, is generally known by his literary name وصّاف , the "panegyrist." He was the son of Maulânâ Faḍl Ullah Shîrâzî, who, according to the author's own statement in the present work, died in A.H. 698 = A.D. 1298. Waṣṣâf found a generous patron in the person of Wazîr Raṣhîd-ud-Dîn, author of the Jâmi'-ut-Tawârîkh. After Raṣhîd-ud-Dîn's death, Waṣṣaf continued to enjoy similar favours from the Wazîr's son and successor Ġiyâṣ-ud-Dîn. It was under the auspices of Raṣhîd-ud-Dîn that he presented this work to Sulţân Uljâytâ on Thursday, 24 Muḥarram, A.H. 712 = A.D. 1312, and received from the king the title of رصّاف العضرية, "the panegyrist of His Majesty." See fol. 624.

The Târîkh-i-Waṣṣâf is reckoned an excellent specimen of the florid style: it is enriched with verses in Persian and Arabic; the abundance of words, of phrases, even of whole chapters in the Arabic language show him to have been no mean scholar; there are apt citations from the Qurân too, introduced with such telling felicity, that one might easily take the author for a Ilâfiz (one who learns the Qurân by heart); that he was a deep student of the sacred Book is obvious.

As a contemporary history of the Moghul kings the work is no doubt of great value; but the tedious redundancies of its rhetorical style are quite unsuitable for historical works. The author himself says that when, on his presenting it to Sultân Uljâytû, he read aloud one or two passages, the Sultân could not understand them until they were explained by Rashîd-ud-Dîn. Hummer-Purgstall remarks—"The history of Wassâf, so far as regards style, holds the same position in Persian as the Maqâmât-i-Harîrî in Arabic, being an unapproachable model of thetoric, and also, in the opinion of the Persians, of historical art."

The work is practically a continuation of the Tarîkh-i-Jahan Kusha of Juwaynî, of which our author speaks very highly, and to which he devotes a long panegyric on fol. 638b. He takes up the history at the point where the Jahan Kusha closes.

The Târîkh-i-Wassâf was lithographed in Bombay, A.H. 1269, and the first volume was published by Hammer with a German translation, Vienna, 1856. The contents of the work have been described by Hammer in the Jahrbucher, vol. 71, Anz. Blatt., pp. 27-31. See also Elliot, History of India, vol. iii., pp. 24-54, Quatremère, Histoire des Mongols, pp. 13, 68; D'Ohsson, Histoire des Mongols, p. 27; Mohl, Journal Asiatique, 5° Série, vol. viii., p. 54; Hâj. Cat., No. 147, etc., etc.

The work is divided into five volumes. Vol. IV. (foll. 460-682) is bound after Vol. V. (foll. 398-459).

Vol. I. opens with a preface, dated Sha'ban, A.H. 699 = A.D. 1299. It begins with the death of Mangû Qâ'an and the accession of Qubilâ Qâ'an.

Vol. II. treats of the Atâbaks of Fârs, Lur, etc.

Vols. III. and IV. contain some account of India; the latter is brought down to A.H. 712 = A.D. 1312, and closes with the history of Chingiz Khân and his successors.

Vol. V., which deals mainly with the history of Abû Sa'îd, was subsequently added by the author. In some copies, as in Rieu, Add. 23517, and in this copy, there is some record of the events relating to A.H. 727 = A.D. 1326.

شجرة الاتراك

SHAJARAT-UL-ATRÂK.

A history of Chingîz Khân, his ancestors from the time of Yâfes bin Nûh, and his descendants down to Tîmûr.

Beginning: ---

الحمد لِله الضبير و هو علي كل شيء قدير و الصلوة و السلام علي خير خلقه و رسوله النح

The title of this work is a matter of dispute. Rieu, vol. i., p. 164, followed by Dr. Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 172, calls the work Ulûs-i-Arba'ah-i-Chingîzî, الرس اربعة چنگيزي, and remarks that the title "Shajarat-ul-Atrâk," written on the fly-leaf of his copy by Wm. Erskine (the name under which Col. Wm. Miles published an abridged translation, London, 1838), does not appear anywhere in the text. For his authority he quotes the concluding lines of the work, in which he says it is called Ulûs Arba'ah Chingîzî, as follows:—

اين نسخه الوس اربعه چنكيزيست و تعداد اسامي النح

In our copy the above passage runs thus, with a slight alteration :-

این نسخه بیان الوس اربعه چنکیزیست و تعداد اسامی ملوك اولاد ترك خان بن یافت بن نوح علیهما السلام و نامهای خواقین ترکستان زمین که درین رساله است منقول است از مجموعهٔ که سلطان السعید الغ بیگ مرزای شهید نور الله مضجعه در ذکر خانان الوس اربعه تالیف نموده اند تحریر افتاد

the literal translation of which is "This book gives an account of the four clans of the Chingîzî line," etc. In the present copy we find that the author distinctly calls the work Shajarat-ul-Atrâk, fol. 24°.—

و چون بزرکترین اولاد حضرت نوح یافت بود علیهما السلام حق تعالی او را به تشریف رسالت مشرف کردانید و درین مسوده که

موسوم بشجرة الاتراك است از ذكر آن دو برادر زيادة برين مذكور نميكردد النم

On fol. 258b he again refers to the title thus:-

بادساهي صاين خان ـ در تواريخ معتبرة احوال و نسب او به جوجيخان مشهور و معروف است اما درين نسخه كه منتخبست از شبحرة الاتراك چيزي بنظر نه در آمد ..... اما اين قدر بخاطر مانده كه بادشاه عطيم الشان كنير الانعام بود العلم عند الله النح

Although in the lines quoted above the author says that he has based this work on Ulug Beg's history of the Khâns of the four clans, he frequently refers to "reliable histories," واريخ معتبرى, and particularly names two important works, viz. the Târîkh-1-Guzîdah, by Hamd Ullah Mustaufi, composed in A.H. 730 = A D. 1329 (see Nos 453-54 in this Catalogue), and the Târîkh-1-Jahângushâi of 'Aṭâ Malik Juwaynî, composed in A.H. 658 = A.D. 1259, in the following two places:—

1. fol. 169b:--

و مدت سلطنت سلطان محمد خوارزم شاة را گویند بیست ویك سال بود و بقول حمد الله مستوفي صاحب تاریخ گزیده از سلطان محمد خوارزم شاة هفت پسر ماندة النج

2. fol. 244a:--

و دیگر نوئیان بزرگ ..... با همراهی هلاکو خان بن تولیخان متوجه ایران شدند و از انجا استخلاص نمودند و اذربایجان را مقر سریر سلطنت ساختند چنانکه تفصیل آن را عطا ملك برادر خواجه شمس الدین محمد جوینی در تاریخ جهانکشای نوشته است و مجملی ازان مفصل درین نسخه در محل خود مذکور خواهد شد

From this we learn that the author derived his account of Hulâgû Khân from Juwaynî's Jahângushâi.

The Ulûs i-Arba'ah of Ulug Beg is mentioned in the Tûrikh-i-Rashîdî. The ninth Maqâlah of the Khulâşat-ul-Akhbâr (see No. 463 in this Catalogue), treating of the history of the Moghuls, agrees in most points with the present text, and Khwând Amîr admits at the end that he derived it from the Ulûs-i-Arba'ah of Ulug Beg.

According to Rieu, i., p. 164<sup>b</sup>, two copies of the original work of Ulug Beg are supposed to exist in the libraries of Constantinople.

The year A.H. 805 = A.D. 1402, which, according to Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., loc. cit., is the last date mentioned in his copy before the epilogue, is not found in this copy; but in the same place we find an incidental reference to the death of Tîmûr which, we know, took place in A.H. 807 = A.D. 1404.—

چون صاحبقران اكبر امير كوركان صفدر ..... ازين عالم غدار رحلت فرمود تا آن وقت خاني محمود سلطان بن سيورغنمشخان باستقلال بود الن

The late date A.H. 831 = A.D. 1427 (mentioned by Dr. Ethé), in which year Muḥammad Khân bin Tîmûr Khân bin Tîmûr Qutlû Khân bin Tîmûr Beg Uglân Khân, the thirty-ninth and last successor of Jûjî Khân, is said to have ascended the throne, is found here on fol. 273b:—

از بدو دولت جوجي نزادان كه از سنه احدي و عشرين ستماية هجري تا سال جلوس محمد خان كه احدي و ثلنبن و ثمانماية كه دو صد و ده سال بوده است ....

The reign of Muhammad Khân is noticed on fol. 274°. The date A H. 851 = A D 1447, mentioned by Rieu, loc. cit, as the latest date found in his copy on fol. 129°, which, by the way, seems to correspond with fol 273° of the present copy, is not found here, and it seems doubtful whether Rieu's date (851) is not a mistake for 831.

ظفر نامه

ZAFAR NÂMAH.

The well-known history of Tîmûr from his birth, A.H. 736 = A D. 1335, to his death, A.H. 807 = A.D. 1404, with a sketch of Khalîl Sulţân's reign.

Author: Maulana Sharaf ud-Din 'Ala Yazda, مولانا شرف الدين مولانا شرف على يزدي.

Beginning .-

This is unanimously admitted to be the most trustworthy history of Tîmûr. Khwând Mîr, in his Ḥabîb-us-Sıyar, vol. iii., Juz 3, p. 148, in praising the work, remarks that up to that time he had not met with a better history in the Persian language.—

In chap. ii. the author reveals his sources. Tîmûr had always in attendance a staff of learned men, l'ersian secretaries and Uigûr penmen (بخشيان الغور و دبيران فرس), who recorded every event as it occurred. Strict orders were given to observe the utmost accuracy, and to avoid alike exaggeration and belittling. These records were then written in a polished and elegant style, and were afterwards brought into the royal presence to have their accuracy tested. In this way two historical records, one in Turkish and another in Persian, were prepared. Besides this, some other officials of the court were also employed in recording the events of Timûr's reign after ascertaining their truth.

The author then proceeds to say that his royal master, Ibiahîm Sultân, second son of Shâh Rukh, and grandson of Tîmûr, a great patron of learning, and himself a man of letters, who took the keenest interest in the present work, procured materials from all quarters, and collected a number of Persian and Turkish readers, scholars and writers. For each event reference was made to the Turkish and Persian texts, eye-witnesses were sent to ascertain the truth, and in case of doubtful points messengers were sent to settle discrepancies in the MSS. In this manner, when a correct version had been obtained, it was brought to the prince to be approved, and was then made over to Sharaf-ud-Dîn to be decked in all the graces of a literary style. The text was then again brought to the prince for his final approval.

Petis de la Cioix, in his translation of the above passage, eironeously gives the credit of the compilation to Tîmûr instead of Ibrâhîm Sulţân.

The author, Maulana Sharaf-ud-Din 'Ala, who adopted the poetical title of Sharaf, was a native of Yazd and a man of great piety. At the request of Mirzâ Sultân Muhammad, the governor of 'Irâq, he came to his court; and after some years, when Shah Rukh came to Isfahan to subdue the Mirzâ, who had rebelled against Shâh Rukh, he (Sharaf) was accused of having instigated the Mirzâ, and like many others was to suffer death by Shah Rukh's order, when Mirza 'Abd-ul-Latif, on the pretence that his father, Minzâ Ulug Beg, was in need of Sharaf's services in connection with his astronomical observations, rescued the author from the impending danger, and sent him to Samaigand. Sharaf neturned to his native place in AH. 853 = A.D. 1449, where he died in AH. 858 = AD 1454, and was buried in the college called Sharafiyah after him. See Habîb-us-Sıyar, vol. iii., Juz 3, p. 148; Daulat Shâh, pp. 378-380; Hammer, Schone Redekunste, p. 284. See also Elliot, History of India, vol. ii., p. 478, Hâj. Khal., vol. iv., p. 175, Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, pp. 94 and 95, Charmoy, Mémoires de l'Académie de S Petersbourg, 6° Série, vol. ii., p. 92; G. Flugel, p. 189; Copenhagen Catalogue, p. 19; J. Aumer, p. 86; Rieu, i., p. 175; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Catalogue, Nos. 153-159, Ethé, India Office Lib. Catalogue, Nos. 173-191 and Nos. 2831-2832, etc.

The whole work was translated into French by Petis de la Croix, "Histoire de Timur-Bec," and published after his death, Paris, 1722, and translated into English by J. Darby, London, 1723. An extract (text and translation) is given by C. Stewart, Descriptive Catalogue, pp. 234-247.

The date of composition of the Zafar Namah, as given in the Habibus-Siyar, loc. cit., is A H. 828 = A.D. 1424, a date expressed by the chronogram صنف في شيراز.

The Introduction or the Iftitâh, better known as مقدمة ظفر لأمه written by the same Sharaf-ud-Dîn before the Zafar Nâmah in A.H. 822

= A.D. 1419, is found only in a few copies. It treats of the genealogy of the Turkish Khâns, and of the history of Chingîz Khân and his descendants down to Tîmûr, and has been described in Rieu, i., p. 175; G. Flugel, p. 189; Ethé, India Office Library Catalogue, No. 173.

The Zafar Nâmah was edited in two volumes in Bibl. Indica by Maulavî Muhammad Ilahdâd, Calcutta, 1887.

Written in ordinary Nasta'liq, within red-ruled borders. The headings are written in red; occasional emendations are found on the margins.

Dated 17 Ramadán. The last figure of the year is illegible on account of a worm-hole, the third partly resembles 5, but the first two distinctly read 10.

مطلع السعدين

MATLA'-US-SA'DAYN.

The first of the two volumes of 'Abd ur-Razzâq bin Isḥâq us-Samarqandi's (مولانا عبد الرزاق بن اسعاق السمرقندي) history of the Timurides from a ii. 704 to 875 = A.D. 1304–1470. The full title of the work is مطلع السعدين و مجمع البحرين.

This copy is distinguished by having a preamble, unknown in other copies. In this we are told that in the composition of the work the author received assistance from several learned men, among whom he specially mentions Maulânâ Nizâm-ud-Dîn 'Abd-ul-Wâsi'. He also tells us that the work consists of two Qisms (volumes). The first beginning with the birth of Abû Sa'îd Bahâdur Khân and ending with the history of Tîmûr, covering the period A.H. 704-807 = A.D. 1304-1404. The second opening with the accession of Shâh Rukh in A.H. 807, and closing with A.H. 875 = A.D. 1470. At the end of this preamble the scribe adds the words ' نقط المصنف',' which mean that it was copied from the autograph of the author.

The preamble runs thus .-

کتاب مطلع سعدین و مجمع بحرین که منتظم در سلك قسمین و منقسم بر عقد سمطین وقوع یافت . . . قسم اول مشتمل بر شرح

ولادت و بسطت سلطنت سلطان عالیشان متعالی مکان علاء الدنیا و الدین سلطان ابو سعید بهادر خان و ظهور دولت و قوت صولت . . . امیر تیمو کورکان و احوال ایران و توران بل معظم ممالك جهان از ابتدای هفتصد و چهار تا انقضای هشتصد و هفت قسم دویم محتویست بر شرح جلوس حضرت خاقان معید معین الدنیا و الدین شاهرخ بهادر بر سریر سلطنت جهان و تسخیر ممالك ایران و توران بل سایر بلدان از افتتاح هشتصد و هفت تا انشراح هشتصد و هفتاد و پنج — بیت —

This then, contradicts the popular notion that the Matla'-us-Sa'dayn is due exclusively to the pen of 'Abd-ui-Razzâq. Nızâm-ud-Dîn 'Abd-ul-Wâsi', whom our author mentions as his principal helper, seems to be identical with Maulânâ Nızâm-ud-Dîn Shâmî, the author of the Zafar Nâmah, a history of Tîmûr from the beginning of his career to the end of A.H. 806 = A.D. 1403. See Rieu, i., p. 170. The author of the Habîb-us-Siyar, vol. iii., Juz 3, p. 90, remarks thus "Most of the facts of Tîmûr's history are derived from the work of Maulânâ Nızâm-ud-Dîn Shâmî, who is also known as شنب غازاني," evidently a mistake for hear Tabrîz. Dorn, St. Petersburg Cat., p. 287 (Rieu, loc. cit.), also quotes a passage from 'Abd-ur-Razzâq's Maţla'-us-Sa'dayn, ın which the author refers to Nizâm-ud-Dîn 'Abd-ul-Wâsi' as his chief authority.

The usual preface begins thus on fol. 2*:-

حسن مطلع اخبار انوار در افتتاح مقال و لطف مظهر آثار اخبار در ایضاح مبداء و مال آلنے

Maulânâ Kamâl-ud-Dîn 'Abd-ur-Razzâg, son of Maulânâ Jalâl-ud-مولانا كمال الدين عبد الرزاق بي مولانا جلال Dîn Ishâq Samarqandî مولانا كمال الدين (الدين اسماق السمرفندي), was born at Herat on 12 Sha'ban, A.H. 816 = A.D. 1413. His father, Ishâq, was engaged for a long time at the court of Shah Rukh in the capacity of a Qadî and Imam, and was occasionally called into the royal presence to explain points of law. After his father's death, in A.H. 841 = A.D. 1437, he wrote a commentary upon 'Add-ud-Dîn's treatise on Noun and Particle, dedicating it to Sulţân Shâh Rukh; and it was on this occasion that he secured his first introduction to the notice of Shah Rukh. In the latter part of Shah Rukh's reign 'Abd-ur-Razzâq was sent to India as an ambassador to the King of Bîjânagar. At the end of three years he returned to Khurâsân. Of this embassy he has given us a very interesting account in the present work, foll. 148-167. He was also sent on a mission to Gîlân in A.H. 850 = A.D. 1446, and after Shah Rukh's death, which took place in the same year, he was successively attached to the services of Mirzâ 'Abd-ul-Latîf, Mirzâ 'Abd Ullah, Mirzâ Abul Qâsim, and lastly of Sultân Abû Sa'îd, by whom he was appointed, in A.H. 867 = AD. 1462, Shaykh of the monastery (خانفاد) of Shâh Rukh in Herat, where he spent the remaining portion of his life in pious devotions, dying in Jumâdâ II., Ан. 887 = A.D. 1482. See Habîb-us-Siyar, vol. iii., Juz 3, p. 335. Quatremère, in Notices et Extraits, vol. xiv., devotes 500 pages to his life and a critical estimate of his work, together with an account of the earlier years of the reign of Shah Rukh. The story of the Chinese and Indian embassies is also given, accompanied by a French translation.

The contents of the work have been fully described by Hammer, Jahrbücher, vol. 71, Anz. Blatt., pp. 32-47. A list of the various editions of fragments of this work will be found in Morley's Descriptive Catalogue, p. 98. See also Elliot, History of India, vol. iv., pp. 89-126; Charmoy, Mémoires de l'Académie de S. Pétersbourg, 6° Série, vol. ii., p. 94, Ouseley's Travels, vol. 1, p. 322; G. Flugel, ii., p. 190; J. Aumer, pp. 87 and 88; Cat. des MSS. et Xylogr., pp. 286-288; Ḥâj. Khâl., vol. v., p. 603; Rieu, i., p. 181; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 163 and 164; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 192-195.

Although in the preface, fol. 3<sup>n</sup>, the author states that the work covers a period beginning with the birth of Abû Saûd Bahâdur Khân, A.H. 704 = A.D. 1304, and closing with A.H. 874 = A.D. 1469, it will be seen that it has been brought down to the month of Safar, A.H. 875 = A.D. 1470, when Sultan Husayn ascended the throne for the second time.

Again on fol. 34<sup>b</sup>, where he tells us that from the time of Abû Sa'îd the events are narrated year by year, he incidentally mentions A.H. 875 = A.D. 1470 as the date of composition:—

. . . بعد ازان سال بسال از زمان ولادي تا زمان وفاي بل الي

يومنا هذا كه تاريخ هجري در تعداد هشتصد و هفتاد و پنج است --

ز هشصد فزون رفته هفتاد و پنج که پُر دُر شد این نامبردار گنج

In the following subscription at the end of this copy he tells us that he completed the original on Thursday, 15 Jumâdâ II., A.H. 871.

و ذلك صبح يوم الخميس منتصف جمادي الآخر منه احدي و سبعين و ثمانماية حررة المولفه الفيير الي الملك الخلاق الهادي عبد الرزاق بن اسعق السمرقندي

Written in a cursive Nasta'lîq, with the headings in 1ed. Dated Rajab, A.H. 187, which evidently stands for 1087.

.مدي الدين ابن على افضل Scribo

The colophon runs thus .-

ملفوظات تيمور MALFÛZÂT-I-TÎMÛR.

The Autobiographic Memoirs of Tîmûr, translated, it is alleged, from a Turkî original.

Translator Abû Tâlib ul-Husaynî ul-'Arîdî.

Beginning with the translator's preface -

The Memoirs begin thus in the middle of fol. 2<sup>n</sup> without any marked heading or space.—

Abû Țâlib Ḥusaynî, a native of Khurâsân, presented these Memoirs to Shâh Jahân, in A.H. 1047 = A.D. 1637, or short time before.

In the short preface Abû Ţâlib says that he made this translation from a Turkî book which he found in the Holy Places (حرصين), in the library of Jafar Pâdshâh, the ruler of Yaman. In it Tîmûr had recorded the events of his life from his seventh to the seventy-seventh (or, according to the following MS., seventy-fourth) year.

There are serious objections against the authenticity of these Memoirs, the existence of which is not corrobotated by any direct or reliable evidence. The historian Sharaf-ud-Dîn 'Alî Yazdî, who thirty years after Tîmûn's death, wrote the emperor's history entitled Zafar Nâmah (see no. 513 in this catalogue), while giving in the preface to that book a detailed account of his various sources, clearly states that he had free access to all the documents and official records, but does not refer to these Memoirs. Again, in the preface to the revised and enlarged edition of these Memoirs made at the request of Shâh Jahân by Muḥammad Afḍal Bukhârî in A.H. 1047 = A D. 1637, we are told that Shâh Jahân, being dissatisfied with Abû Ṭâhb's version, and finding that it contained mistakes and errors as regards dates and facts, ordered Muhammad Afḍal Bukhârî to make an amended edition.

Major Charles Stewart translated a portion of the Memoirs from the beginning to A.H. 777 = A.D. 1375. This was printed in London, 1830. The "Designs" and "Enterprises" and the "Institutes" were edited in the original Persian, with an English translation, in Oxford, 1783, by Prof. Joseph White and Major Davy; these two books were subsequently translated into French by M. Langlès in 1787. Copious extracts in English will be found in Elliot, History of India, vol. in., pp. 389-477. See also Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, p. 95; Erskine, Memoirs of Baber, pp. 2 and 3; Rieu, i., p. 177; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 150; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 196-202, etc.

This copy contains:-

- 1. The preface of Abû Țâlib, and the Memoirs from the beginning to A.H. 783 = A.D. 1381.
  - 2. Institutes, Designs and Enterprises, beginning on fol. 129<sup>n</sup>.—

The Institutes, Designs and Enterprises, are followed by a continuation dealing with Tîmûr's principles as to the proper treatment of conquered races and his views upon various points of law referred to him.

Written in Indian cursive character, within gold-ruled borders, with an illuminated head-piece at the beginning of each section.

Not dated, apparently 19th century.

An incomplete copy of the Malfûzât-i-Tîmûr. The full title given here to these Memoirs runs thus:—

جاه خلایق پناه قطب السلاطین عالیجاه امیر تیمور کورکان صاحب قوان خلد الله تعالی ملکه و سلطانه --

After which Abû Țâlib's preface begins thus on fol. 4b:-

The Memoirs begin on fol 4b:-

This copy breaks off in the midst of the Memoirs with an account of Amîr IIusayn under the heading مجلس صلح و مصالحه من و امير corresponding with fol. 95° of the preceding copy.

This beautiful copy bears on fol. 4<sup>a</sup> a seal of عالم گير عالم ورد يفان عالم گير, dated A.H. 1071.

This Allahwardî Khân, whose original name was Ja'far Khân, was a noble of Autangzîb's time, who bestowed upon him the title of Allahwardî Khân 'Âlamgîr Shâhî. He received the Şûbahdârî of Allahabad from the emperor, and died there in A.H. 1079 = A.D. 1669. His father, whose name was also Allahwardî Khân, was a nobleman of Jahângîr's time, and died in A.H. 1069 = A.D. 1658.

Written in elegant bold Nasta'liq within gold ruled and coloured borders, with a fine illuminated head-piece.

Not dated, apparently 16th century.

A history of the early Kings of Persia, from Kayûmars to  $An\hat{u}\underline{sh}\hat{i}rw\hat{a}n.$

. فضل الله الحسيني Author: Fadl Ullah ul-Ḥusaynî, فضل الله الحسيني

The MS. is defective at the beginning, and opens abruptly with the following words.—

The exact date of composition of the work is not given in the text but as the preface, a long one, is devoted to the praise of the reigning prince, Atâbak Nuṣrat-ud-Dîn Aḥmad bin Yûsuf Shâh, of the dynasty of Lur Buzurg, who succeeded his brother Afrâsiyâb (killed by the Mongols) A.H. 695 = A.D. 1295, and died in A.H. 730 = A.D. 1329, it mus have been composed between those two dates.

The author of the Haft Iqlîm and several others have confounded this author with 'Izz-ud-Dîn Fadl Ullah, father of the historian Waṣṣâl Ḥâj. Khal., vol. v., p. 628, fixes a very early date, viz. A.H. 654=A.D. 1256 for the composition of the work. See Morley, Descriptive Catalogue p. 132; Munich Catalogue, p. 78; Sir Wm. Ouseley's Catalogue, No. 315 Rieu, ii., p. 811; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 285; W. Pertsch Berlin Cat., pp. 420 and 421. The work has been edited at Teheran 1843. It was translated into Turkish under the title of برخان بلاغت , see Pertsch, loc. cit.

Written, sometimes diagonally, in Nîm Shikastah within coloured

The colophon says that the copy was written on Sunday, 15 Muharram, A.H. 1085, at Shâhjahânâbâd.

The MS. bears the signature "Goure Ouseley" on the first page.

The seals of Nawwâb Vilâyat 'Alî Khân and Khwurshîd Nawwâb of Patna are fixed in several places.

نزاد نامه

NIZÂD NÂMAH.

An abstract of the history of the Persian Kings, and of their descendants who ruled in different parts of the world from the earliest times down to A.H. 1274 = A.D. 1857.

Beginning:-

The name of the author is not to be found. On fol. 1b the title of the work is given as نزاد نامه, but in an endorsement it is written as "Tarîkh-i-Bâdshâhân-i-Îrân."

The work is divided into two main Sections:-

SECTION I.

Contains the history of the various dynastics of the Persian Kings, with a short account of the kings under each dynasty, and of their descendants who ruled in different parts of the world, such as Sind, Multân, the Deccan, etc. It concludes with an account of the rulers of Sind and Multân (fol. 77*).

SECTION II.

Contains a compendium of all notable events in chronological order from the date of the Prophet Muḥammad's birth down to A.H. 1274 = A.D. 1857.

This copy, written by an illiterate scribe in a careless Indian Ta'liq, is full of cherical mistakes. The headings are written in red throughout.

Dated 22 Safar, A.H. 1284.

تاريخ عالِم آراي عباسي

TÂRÎKH-I-'ÂLAM ÂRÂ-I-'ABBÂSÎ.

A history of the life and reign of the Ṣafawî King,  $\underline{Sh}$  ah 'Abbas the Great, and his predecessors.

Author: Iskandar Beg Munshî, منشى اسكندر بيك منشى.

Beginning .-

In the concluding lines of the work, completed in A.H. 1038, the author gives us to understand that he had then reached the age of seventy. He must have been born then about A.H. 968 = A.D. 1560:—

In the preface the author, who calls himself a price process, states that in his youth, at the evil suggestion of some imprudent persons, he applied his mind to the study of arithmetic, and spent a portion of his life in the service of the rich. He soon, however, realised his folly and devoted himself to the art of composition, and after attaining some skill enrolled himself among the Munshis of the Imperial Court. He says at the end that he hoped, should life and leisure be spared to him, to add a Khâtimah containing wonderful and curious notices, collected during his life. But it seems that he did not survive to carry out his plan. According to the preface the author completed the work in its original shape in A.H. 1025 = A.D. 1616, dividing it into a Muqaddimah on the ancestors and predecessors of Shâh 'Abbâs, and two Ṣuḥīfahs, the first containing the history of Shâh 'Abbâs from his birth to his accession (A.H. 978-996=A.D. 1571-1588); the second comprising the history of the first thirty years of his reign (A.H. 996-1025=A.D. 1588-1616). He afterwards added a continuation, called Maqsad-i-sani, giving the history of the same reign from A.H. 1026-1038=A.D. 1617-1629). See Morley, Descriptive Catalogue, p. 133; Erdmann, de Manuscripto Iskenderi Menesii, Cazan, 1822; G. Flugel, ii., p. 17; J. Aumer, p. 80; S. de Sacy, Journal Asiatique, vol. v., p. 86; Stewart's Catalogue, p. 10; Rieu, i., p. 185; W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., pp. 433-436; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 289-299; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 538-554; Hāj. Khal., vol. vi., p. 564, etc.

A continuation of the 'Âlam Arâ-i-'Abbâsî, composed for Murtadâ Qulî Khân, governor of Ganjah, and containing the history of Shâh Safi's reign, is ascribed in the St. Petersburg Catalogue, p. 291, to İskandar Munshî, but in the Munich Catalogue, p. 80, to another author, viz. Muhammad Ma'sâm bin Khwâjagî Isfahânî.

This copy comprises the Muqaddimah, the first Sahîfah and the Maqad-i-Sânî as follows:—

Saḥifah I. There is a lacuna after fol. 53<sup>b</sup>, and the earlier portion of the account relating to the birth of Shâh 'Abbâs is wanting. Death of Shâh Tahmâsp, fol. 60<sup>a</sup>. Amîrs and nobles who lived before the reign of Shâh 'Abbâs, fol. 62<sup>b</sup>. 'Ulamâ and Shaykhs, fol. 63<sup>b</sup>. Ḥakîms (the heading is wanting), fol. 72<sup>a</sup>. Calligraphers, fol. 74<sup>a</sup>. Painters, fol 76<sup>b</sup>. Poets, fol. 78<sup>b</sup>. Singers and Musicians, fol. 81<sup>b</sup>. History of Isma'îl Mirzâ (fol. 87<sup>b</sup>), and Sultân Mulammad (fol. 105<sup>a</sup>), down to the accession of Shâh 'Abbâs (A.H. 996 = A.D. 1588).

The second Ṣaḥifah is wanting in this copy. The second Maqṣad (Maqṣad-i-Sâni), comprising the history from the beginning of A.H. 1026 = A.D. 1617 to the death of Shâh 'Abbâs, A.H. 1038 = A.D. 1629, and the subsequent proclamation of his successor Shâh Ṣafi in Iṣfahân, begins thus on fol. 225b:—

This copy, though a modern one, is very neat. It is written in a very distinct Indian Ta'liq, on good thick paper, with the headings in red.

Not dated, apparently 19th century.

No. 520.

foll. 266; lines 23; size  $11 \times 7\frac{3}{4}$ ;  $7\frac{1}{2} \times 8$ .

The same.

Another copy comprising, like the preceding, the same Muqaddimah, the first Sahifah and the second Maqsad.

The second Maqsad has been wrongly placed first, and occupies foll. 1<sup>b</sup>-97<sup>a</sup>. Foll. 97<sup>b</sup>-99<sup>b</sup> blank.

The first Sahifah with the usual Muqaddimah begins on fol. 100°.

The MS. bears in several places the seals and signatures of Nawwâb Vilâyat 'Alî Khân and Khwurshîd Nawwâb of Patna.

Written in a careless Indian Ta'liq, with the headings in red. Not dated, apparently beginning of the 19th century.

No. 521.

foll. 376; lines 23; size  $14\frac{1}{2} \times 9$ ;  $10\frac{3}{1} \times 6$ .

The same.

A very valuable copy of the second Sahîfah, containing the history of the first thirty years (A.H. 996-1025 = A.D. 1588-1616), and the second Maqsad, written only four years after the date of composition.

Beginning:-

The second Maq and begins on fol. 285b.

At the end of the second Ṣaḥifah the MS. is dated A.H. 1043. The name of the scribe given there is عين على التبريزي.

Written in good Nasta'lîq, within gold and coloured ruled borders, with a double-paged 'Unwân at the beginning of the copy and illuminated headpieces at the beginning of each section. The headings throughout are written in red.

No. 522.

foll.  $353 \times 110$ ; lines 23; size  $11\frac{1}{4} \times 6$ ;  $8 \times 4$ .

The same.

Another good copy of the same second Sahîfah and the second Maqsad, beginning as usual.

The second Sahîfah comprises the first 353 folios, and the second Magsad the last 110 folios.

The MS., though a little damaged, seems to be correct. It is written in a learned minute hand with copious corrections and notes on the margins.

Foll. 341-345 have been supplied in a later hand.

It bears double-paged 'Unwans and illuminated head-pieces at the beginning of each section,

The copy bears the seals and signatures of Sayyid Vilâyat 'Alî Khân Bahâdur, C.I.E., and Khwurshîd Nawwâb of Patna.'

Not dated, apparently 18th century.

No. 523.

foll. 127; lines 12; size  $8\frac{3}{4} \times 5$ ;  $6\frac{1}{4} \times 3\frac{1}{4}$ .

تاریخ طاهر وحید TÂRÎKH-I-TÂHIR WAHÎD.

A good and correct copy of the history of the first fifteen years of the reign of Shâh 'Abbâs II., who ruled over Persia A.H. 1052-1077 (A.D. 1642-1669).

Author. Muḥammad Ṭâhir Waḥîd, محمد طاهر وحيد.

Beginning:-

نيايش خالقي را مزامس كه زبان معمدت مكال را از كلمات رنكين الخ

The author, who has been already mentioned in vol. iii., p. 172, of this catalogue, in his lengthy preface (foll.  $1^b-12^a$ ), devoted to the panegyrics of Shâh 'Abbâs II., and to his own late patron, the Wazîr Khalifah Sultân (d. A.H. 1064=A.D. 1653), states that the latter introduced him to the King, at whose command he wrote this work.

Contents:-

Preface, fol. 1b.

Birth of Shâh 'Abbâs II., A.H. 1041 = A.D. 1631, fol. 12b.

His genealogy, fol. 14b.

His accession to the throne on 11 Safar, A.H. 1052=A.D. 1642, and the history of the first year of the reign, fol. 17<sup>b</sup>.

The history then proceeds year by year, the headings of which have been omitted throughout. The MS. is defective towards the end, and breaks off thus.—

و كروهي انبوة و فيلان كوة شكوة روانه قندهار نمودة خود نيز باتفاق دارا شكوة بسر كلان خود كه بخطاب ولي عهدي از ساير اولاد او امتياز دارد وارد كابل گرديد اورنكزيب و معد الله خان وارد قندهار شدة . . . .

A full account of the work is given in Rieu, i., p. 189. See also Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 301; Cat. des MSS. et Xylogr., p. 292; Asiatisches Museum, p. 382; Mackenzie Collection, vol. ii., p. 123; Ethé, Ind. Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 555-557.

According to Rieu, loc. cit., the work is designated in the Qiṣaṣ-ul-Khâqânî as Târîkh-i-Jadid. In Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., loc. cit., it is called تاريخ شاه عباس ثاني, while in the present copy it is endorsed in one place as "Reyazul Akhbar," and in another as رياض التواريخ.

Written in good and clear Nasta'lîq, within gold-ruled borders, with illuminated 'Unwân and head-piece.

Some of the original folios have been mounted on new margins. Not dated, apparently 18th century.

تاريخ جهانكشاي TÂRÎKH-I-JAHÂNKUSHÂI.

The well-known history of Nâdir Shâh, who nuled over Persia A.H. 1148-1160 = A D. 1736-1747, together with a summary account of the events which immediately preceded and followed his reign.

Author. Mirzâ Muḥammad Mahdî Khân Astarâbâdî bin Muḥammad Naṣîr, مرزا محمد مهدى خار استرابادى بى محمد نصير

Beginning .—

According to Sir Harford Jones Brydges, History of the Kajars, p. clxxxi. note, Mirzâ Mahdî Khân was Nadir's private secretary; and the author of the Fawâ'id-i-Safawîyah (composed in A.H. 1211 = A.D. 1796) informs us that the Mirzâ was employed during fifteen years in writing the Târikh-i-Nâdirî. The present copy bears no dedication, but some MSS. contain an epilogue, dated A.H. 1171, in praise of Muḥammad Ḥasan Khân, the father of Âqâ Muḥammad Khân Qâjâr.

After a rapid review of the events which preceded the elevation of Nâdir to the throne of Persia, the author gives a detailed history of Nâdir's reign to his death in A.H. 1160 = A.D. 1747, and concludes with a summary account of the reigns of 'Alî Shâh and Ibrâhîm Shâh.

author of the Târîkh-i-Muḥammadî, fol. 7° (see No. 526 in this catalogue) mentions the Târîkh-i-Nâdirî and Durrah-i-Nâdirî as two distinct works of Mirzâ Mahdî Khân.

For other copies, see Rieu, i., p. 192 sq.; W. Pertsch, Berlin Catalogue, pp. 437-439; W. Morley, p. 138; J. Aumer, p. 81; Cat. des MSS. et Xylogr., p. 293; A. F. Meheren, p. 23; Rosen, MSS. Persans, pp. 140-141; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., Nos. 558-565; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., Nos. 302-306. It was translated into French by Sii William Jones, under the title of Histoire de Nader Chah, Paris, 1770. He also published an English translation, London, 1773. Translated into German by M. Gadebusch, Greifswald, 1773. Lithographed at Teheran, A.H. 1260, and also at Bombay and Tabriz; printed at Calcutta, 1845, for the Asiatic Society of Bengal.

Written in Nîm Shikastah, sometimes diagonally, within gold and coloured ruled borders with an illuminated head-piece. The headings are written in red throughout.

In the colophon the scribe, who gives his name as Ḥayât 'Alî Dihlawî, حيات على دهاري, says that he began the transcription at Lucknow in Sha'bân, A.H. 1230 = A.D. 1814, and that after a prolonged illness he completed it at Shâhjahânâbâd in A.H. 1231 = A.D. 1815.

A seal bearing the inscription سيد محمد is found on the fly-leaf at the beginning.

[تاریخ زندیه]

[TÂRÎKH-I-ZANDIYAH.]

A condensed history of the rise and fall of the Zand dynasty, written during the reign of  $\hat{\Lambda}q\hat{a}$  Muḥammad Khân Qâjâr (A.H. 1193—1211 = A.D. 1779-1797), the first king of the Qâjâr line.

Beginning without حمد or يعت .-

این کتاب حقیقت نامه ایست که انچه بعد از سهنساه دوران و یگانهٔ زمان نادر شاه صاحبقران روی داده تا الحال که زمان آقا محمد خان قاجار است احوال هریك از سلاطین و خوانین از ایسان درین تاریخ انشاء الله تعالی بتفصیل مذکور خواهد سد

At the beginning the author, who does not reveal his name, says that the work (to which he has given no name), contains the history of events which followed the death of Nâdir Shâh (A.H. 1160 = A.D. 1747) down to the time of Âqâ Muḥammad Khân, of whom he speaks in the present tense.

The title, "Haqeqat Nama," endorsed on the MS. is evidently taken from the opening line of the work, where the words عقيقت نامه are used in a different sense. As the work deals with the history of the Zand dynasty, I have ventured to designate it as "Târîkh-i-Zandıyah."

It opens with a short history of 'Âdıl Shâh (the nephew and immediate successor of Nâdir Shâh) and Ibrâhîm Shâh, and ends with an account of the rise of Âqâ Muḥammad Khân Qâjâr and his defeat and capture of Lutf 'Alî Khân, the last king of the Zand dynasty.

ذكر خروج آقا معمد خان قاجار ولد موحوم جنس آرامگاه معمد حسن خان قاجار كه قبل از(ين) گوش زد خامهٔ عنبر سمامه گرديد (on fol. 87").

The author was clearly a Persian. The style, simple and lucid as it is, is not refined. Some orthographical peculiarities are also noticeable, e.g., خورم ; قزوین for خاموش for خورم . خرم.

Written in ordinary Nasta'lîq, with the headings in red. The MS. is worm-eaten throughout, but the text is not affected. The first three pages contain some marginal notes. Not dated, apparently 19th century.

TÂRÎKH-I-MUḤAMMADÎ.

A history of the origin and rise of the Qâjâr family, and of the reign of Âqâ Muḥammad Khân, the first king of the Qâjâr dynasty.

Author: Ibn Muḥammad Taqî-us-Sârû'î Muḥammad, ابن محمد تقي

Beginning :-

Morley, Descr. Cat., p. 139, notices a copy of the work under the wrong title احسى التواريخ, "the best of histories." The author's own description of his work, on fol. 7b, tells us that he wrote it by order of he Qâjâr prince Fath 'Alî (afterwards Fath 'Alî Shâh).—

who gave it the name Tarîkh-i-Muḥammadî in allusion to the writer and the hero, viz. the reigning sovereign Âqâ Muḥammad, who is eulogized in the preface, fol.  $7^a$ .—

Morley commits a further blunder in calling the author "Samad Ben Muhammad Taki Sarawi." The word Samad, which appears in the following passage of the preface:—

is no part of the author's name. It is simply introduced to rhyme with Muhammad. Again, Sârâwî is a mistake for Sâru'î, which means a native of Sêrî, a town in Mâzandarân, also called Sârû; see Ouseley's Travels, vol. iii., p. 267.

The work was written in the lifetime of Âqâ Muḥammad. It ends with a Qaṣîdah composed in praise of it by Mirzâ Fath 'Alî Kâshî, entitled Ṣabâ (died, according to Majma'-ul-Fuṣaḥâ, vol. ii., p. 267, in a.h. 1238 = a.d. 1822), who expresses the date of its completion, a.h. 1211 = a.d. 1796, in the following chronogram —

The last five words in the above lines give the date A.H. 1211.

The author informs us, fol. 7°, that Mirzâ Muḥammad Khân Astarâ-bâdî, the writer of the Durrah-i-Nâdirî, Târîkh-i-Nâdirî (see No. 524, above), and Sanglâkh, a dictionary of Oriental Turkish explained in Persian (see Rieu's Turkish Catalogue, pp. 264-66), was his teacher.

The work is mentioned by Malcolm, vol. ii., pp. 282, 283, etc., under the name of History of the Kujur family. See also, Rieu i., p. 199.

Fifth year, fol. 87".

Sixth year, fol. 107".

The last chapter in this copy recounts the death of the king's mother in Sha'ban, A.H. 1217 = A.D. 1802, after which the MS. breaks off with an incomplete account of the conquest of Mashhad.

According to Ricu, 1., p. 206, who notices a copy of this work, the author promised to write a second volume comprising the history of the second decade of the reign. It was written, and a copy of it is preserved in the Library of the Royal Asiatic Society. The work is mentioned in Morley's Descriptive Catalogue, p. 141, and in Mélanges Asiatiques, vol. iii, p. 731.

Written in a careless Ta'liq, within coloured ruled borders, on various coloured papers.

Not dated, apparently 19th century. The MS. is in a damaged condition.

سپاس و ستایش فراوان از خاکیان سزای بارگاه آلتے

The preface is devoted to the praise of the reigning king, Fath 'Alî Shâh and his son 'Abbâs Mirzâ. The author says that he abridged this from a larger work which he had written before. He begins with an account of the origin of the Qâjâr dynasty. The history of Fatḥ 'Alî Shâh, beginning with his accession in A.H. 1212 = A.D. 1798, is preceded by an account of his ancestors.

The MS. is defective towards the end. It breaks off with the history of the year A.H. 1228.

Written in ordinary Nasta'lîq with the headings in red.

Not dated, apparently 19th century.

تاريم خانجهاني مخزن افغاني

TÂRÎKH-I-KHÂN JAHÂNÎ MAKHZAN-I-AFĠÂNÎ.

A complete copy of the original and fuller redaction of Khwâjah Ni'mat Ullah bin Khwâjah Ḥabîb Ullah Ḥarawî's (طاجه نصيب الله الهروي history of the Afgâns. In the concluding lines the work is designated as تاريخ خازن مخزن افغاني, where the word خازي افغاني is evidently a mistake for خانجهاني.

Beginning -

حمدي که مورخان وقایع نگار و مستخبران بدایع امکار بلسان گوهر بار النے

In the beginning of chapter vii., fol. 428°, the author tells us that his father had devoted the last thirty-five years of his life to the services of the Emperor Akbar, and that he had himself served Jahângîr as Waqa'i' Nawîs during eleven years (A.H. 1006-1017 = A.D. 1597-1608), when he lost his post and entered the service of Khânjahân Pîr Muḥammad, son of Daulat Khân Lodî, who held great military charges and was honoured with the title of Khânjahân by Jahângîr in the second year of his reign. This Khânjahân rebelled against Shâh Jahân, and was killed in an engagement with the royal troops on 1 Rajab, A.H. 1040 = A.D. 1630. See Blochmann's Â'în-i-Akbarî, vol. i., pp. 503-6.

We learn from the preface that the author accompanied  $\underline{Kh}$  anjahan in his Decean campaign, in a st. 1018 = a.d. 1609. He wrote the present work at the desire of Mıyan Haybat  $\underline{Kh}$  an bin Salam Khan Kakar, of Sâmânah, who also was attached to the service of Khânjahân, and whom he came to know during his stay in the Deccan. He began it at Malkâpûr, Berar, in Dul-ḥijjah, A.H. 1020 = A.D. 1611, and dedicated it to Khânjahân, calling it after his name.

In the following verses at the end the author says that he completed the work on Friday, 10 Dul-hijjah, A.H. 1021 = A D. 1612, during the reign of Jahangir.—

هزار شکر خدا را که یافت ابن تاریخ

He then adds that he completed the original draft, the fair copy, and the final revision at Burhânpur.

The work is divided into a Muqaddımah, seven Bâbs, and a Khâtimah, thus.—

Muqaddimah. History of Mihtar Yaʻqûb Isiâ'il Ullah (Jacob), his offspring, and his genealogy (عالم مهتر احوال مهتر الله و تعداد مرزندان و سلسله انساب اين يعفوب اسرائيل الله و تعداد مرزندان و سلسله انساب اين (طائفه كه بآن بيغمبر عاليمقام منتهي ميشود "on fol. 8.

حسین شاهي

HUSAYN SHÂHÎ.

A detailed history of the dynasty of the Durrânî Afgâns, comprising the account of its origin and the reigns of Ahmad Shâh Durrânî, Tîmûr Shâh, and Shâh Zamân, to A.H. 1212 = A.D. 1798.

Author: Imâm-ud-Dîn Ḥusaynî, امام الدن حسيني (Rieu, iii., p. 905, reads چشتي for جسيني).

Beginning -

We learn from the preface that in the middle of A II. 1211 = A.D 1797, when Shâh Zamân was holding his court in Lahore, the author went to that city, and from thence proceeded with the king's army to Peshawar, where he devoted his leisure to the composition of a history of that prince and his family. At the end of A.H. 1212 = A.H. 1798 he went to Lucknow, where he showed what he had written to a saint Khwâjah Abû Muḥsin Ilusayn ul-Ilasanî ul-Maudûdî ul-Kumhârî, ميد خراجه الكهماري (كمهاري).

on 10 Jumâdá I, A.H. 1213, he was asked by the same saint to add to the work the letters of the Durrâni kings Aḥmad Shâh, Tîmûr Shâh, and Zamân Shâh. He also tells us, fol. 2<sup>b</sup>, that he has added at the end some curious anecdotes, which he heard from trustworthy sources, and has also given an account of the tombs of the Chishtî saints, together with some particulars of the relatives and ancestors of his patron and spiritual guide Khwâjah Abû Muhsin:—

و علاوه احوال سلاطین نقلی جند عجیب و غریب که از زبان ارباب عز و وقار و اصحاب دانس و اعتبار شنیده معه نقشهٔ مزارات حضرات جشت و بیان نسب اطهار سید ممدوح در آحز این کتاب درج نمودم ـ

In conclusion he relates that he had written from his own observation a full description of the routes from Delhi to the Panjab, Multan, Peshawar, etc., which a certain Raḥm 'Alî Jamâlpûrî Panjâbî managed to take away from him on the promise of paying him four hundred rupees, in addition to a monthly salary, and presented as his own composition to M1. Lumsden, in Lucknow, and received the reward due to the author.

The work contains a detailed history of the period it embraces and seems to be most trustworthy. In the preface the author tells us that his accounts are exclusively based on the information which he received from trustworthy persons who took active part in the deeds recorded by him, omitting such events that took place at that time in Îrân Tûrân and other distant places, the sources of which were not well authenticated.

HASHT BIHISHT.

"The Eight Paradises."

History of the first eight sovereigns of the Ottoman dynasty, from Usmân Beg Gâzî (x II. 699-726 = A.D. 1299-1326), the founder of the dynasty, to Sultân Bâyazid Khân II. (A.II. 886-918 = A.D. 1481-1512), in three volumes.

Author, Maulânâ Ḥakim-ud-Dm Iduîs bin Maulânâ Ḥusâm-ud-Dîn 'Alî-ul-Bidlîsî,

The author, a native of Bidlîs in Kurdistân, was attached to the service of the Aq-quyunlu prince Ya-qûb Beg (A.H. 883-895 = A.D. 1478-1489), in whose name he wrote, A.H. 890 = A.D. 1485, a congratulatory letter to Sultân Bâyazîd II., who highly appreciated it for its elegant style. Shah Ismâ'il's advance compelled the author to take refuge in Turkey, where he was warmly received at the Sultân's court in A.H. 907 = A.D. 1501. He continued to enjoy the same favour from the Sultân's successor Salim (v.H. 918-926 = A.D. 1512-1520), whom he accompanied in his campaigns against Persia and Egypt. He died in Constantinople, in Dul-ḥijjah, A.H. 926 = A.D. 1520. He left, besides the present work, several treatises on religious subjects and a large number of Arabic and Persian Qaşîdahs.

We are told in the preface that Sultan Bayazad II. asked the author to write a detailed history of the Ottoman dynasty from its foundation in A.H. 710 = A.D. 1310 to the then current year, A.H. 908 = A.D. 1502, on the models of the histories by 'Aţâ Malık Juwaynî, Waṣṣâf, Mu'în-ud

Dîn Yazdî and Sharaf-ud-Dîn Yazdî. He completed it in two years and six months. The Arabic title given to the work is:

The work is of great value, and enjoys a well-deserved reputation. It is the first Ottoman history, on which all later histories of the Turkish Empire are based. It is also rare; only three complete copies of it are known to exist in European libraries, viz., in the British Museum, in Upsala, and in the Bodleian Library. See Rieu, i., p. 216; Morley, Descr. Cat., p. 142, W. Pertsch, Berlin Cat., p. 440, Tornburg, p. 191; Ethé, Bodl. Lib. Cat., No. 311; Ethé, India Office Lib. Cat., No. 571; Hâj. Khal, vol. ii., p. 110, and vol. vi., p. 500. A Turkish translation of the work is noticed in G. Flugel, vol. ii., p. 216.

The work is divided into eight books, called Katîbah (کتیبه) or Daftar, each of which is devoted to the reign of a separate king and begins with a prologue in verse. This copy, the first of the three volumes, begins thus.—

Contents .-

Preface, fol. 1b.

Introduction (طلیعة), in two sections, (1) the science of history, fol 12<sup>n</sup>, (2) pre-eminence of the Ottoman house and of the present work, fol. 16<sup>n</sup>.

Katibah I.:

Beginning of the prologue, fol. 20b.

Beginning of the Katibah, fol. 21<sup>a</sup>:—

و ابن دفتر نفستين است از كتاب الصفات النمانيه في ذكر القياصرة العنمانية در ذكر اخبار و آثار قيصر اول اسلام ابو المجاهدين عنمان بيك جنت مقام و ابن كتيبة مشتمل است بر طليعة و دو مقدمة و پانزدة داستان ـ

It is divided into a Tali'ah, two Muqaddimahs, fifteen Dâstâns (only fourteen are extant in the body of the text; Rieu's copy has thirteen), and a Khâtimah, as follows.—

Talî'ah. Origin and genealogy of the Osmanlis, fol. 21.

Muqaddimah. (1) called مقدمةً صغري. The early wars of the Osmanlis and their connection with the Saljūqis, fol. 30°. (2) called مقدمة كبري. History of 'Usmân Beg's accession to the throne, and of contemporary sovereigns, fol. 42°.

Fourteen Dâstâns. The first six relate to 'Usmân Beg's wars and conquests before his accession, fol. 48°, and the last eight to those which followed that event, fol. 61°.

Khâtimah. 'Usmân Beg's death, fol. 79b.

Katîbah II..

foll. 373-690; lines and size same as above.

Vol. III.

Continuation of the preceding.

Katıbah VII.

Beginning of the prologue, fol. 373b.—

Beginning of the Katibah, fol. 374<sup>a</sup>.—

It treats of the history of Muhammad II., and is divided into a Muqaddimah, a Qalb, two Junahs and twenty-nine Dastans, as follows.—

- Muqaddimah, in two Talî'ahs. (1) The accession of Muḥammad II., fol. 374<sup>b</sup>. (2) Account of contemporary kings and men of learning, fol. 381<sup>a</sup>.
- Qalb with numerous subdivisions, treating of the qualities and virtues of Muhammad II., of his power and aimies, of his conquests and territories, and of his constructions, fol. 388<sup>b</sup>.

Junah. (1) His children, fol. 422<sup>a</sup>; (2) his Wazîrs and Generals, fol. 424<sup>b</sup>.

Dâstâns. Of the twenty-nine Dâstâns, fol. 429°, seven, relating to wars with Muslims, are said to belong to the right wing, ميسنه, and twenty-two, treating of wars with infidels, form the left wing, ميسره.

Katîbah VIII.:

Beginning of the prologue, fol. 532b.—

Beginning of the Katîbah, fol. 533<sup>a</sup> .--

It is devoted to the reign of Bâyazid II., and is subdivided into a Muqaddimah, a Talî'ah, a Qalb, and two Ba's, thus:—

Muqaddimah. Pre-eminence of Bâyazîd II.'s 1eign, and history of contemporary kings, fol. 533<sup>b</sup>.

Talî'ah. Qualities and virtues of Bâyazîd II., his pious foundations and constructions, fol. 540°.

Qalb. His accession, fol. 563b.

Ba's. (1) Wais, conquests, and other events connected with his reign, in eight Dâstâns of the right wing, and ten of the left, fol. 569°. The last Dâstân of the left wing ends with an account of the repulse of the French and Venetian attack on Mitylene in A.H. 907 = A.D 1501. The last of the right wing recounts the festivities at the circumcision of Prince Mahmûd's children, A.H. 911 = A.D. 1505. (2) In two sections (Junâh): (i) Children of Bâyazîd II., fol. 648°; (ii) his Wazîrs, Nobles, Generals, Qâḍîs and 'Ulamâ, fol. 657°. The last section ends with a notice of Fîrûz Beg's appointment as Governor of Bosnia in A.H. 912 = A.D. 1506.

The Khâtimah, written entirely in verse, begins thus on fol. 681<sup>b</sup>:—

It is a later addition, and deals with an account of the domestic feud which resulted in the deposition of Bâyazîd II. and the accession of Salîm I.

The author's Salîm Nâmah, containing the history of Sulțân Salîm, is noticed in Rieu, i., p. 218.

All the three volumes are written by one and the same scribe, in fair Nasta'liq, within coloured ruled borders. The headings, written in red, are in large Naskh. Each Katibah begins with an illuminated head-piece.

The colophon is defective, as the greater portion of it has been torn away. The few words still left read thus:—

These words, evidently forming a part of the author's name, as well as the nature of the handwriting and the general appearance of the MS., tend to suggest that it is an autograph copy.

APPENDIX.

When the printing of this volume was nearly complete, I discovered in the Bûhâr Collection of manuscripts at the Imperial Library, Calcutta, a copy of a poetical anthology by Sharaf-ud-Dîn 'Alî Yazdî (d. Ali 858 = Ald 1454), see No 512. It is a most interesting work, and its existence has (so far as I can discover) hitherto been unknown, so that it seemed to me worth while to give a short notice of it here.

Sharaf calls it in the preface تعفة الفقير وهدية العقير وهدية العقير وهدية العقير وهدية Tuḥfat-ul-Faqîr wa Hadyat-ul-Ḥaqîr It is a collection of the choicest specimens of the different branches of Arabic and Persian poetry by various authors, arranged in sixty-four Bâbs according to the topics of which they treat. The most prominent of the Arabic poets from whom the selections are made, are: 'Alı bin Abû Ṭâlıb, Imâm Zayn-ul-'Âbidin, Abû 'Alî Sinâ, Ḥassân bin Sâbit and Abu'l-Fath Bustî. The number of Persian poets is vast, ranging from the age of Firdausî to Sharaf's own time. The copy, written in ordinary but learned Nasta'liq, is dated A.H. 1019.

When the printing of this volume had already got beyond No 455, I received by the kindness of Prof. E. G. Browne, of Cambridge, copies of his monograph on the Mujmal-i-Faṣihi, reprinted from "Le Muséon," Sér. III., Tom. i., No. 1.

One more point. I ought in describing the Mukhtar Namah (No 504) to have stated that it was written during the reign of one Nizam Shah. The author devotes no particular attention to him,
